TAKES HAND IN CONFERENCE

Sends Letter to Sec. Lane Outlining Views—Signs Note With Lead Pencil

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—President Wilson, despite his illness, today took a personal hand in the national industrial conference in an effort to avert a break which is threatened as a result of the inability of the capital and labor groups to reach a satisfactory agreement on the collective bargaining issue.

In a 600-word letter to Secretary Lane, chairman of the conference, dictated from his sick bed, the president outlined his views as to the conference situation. The letter was immediately despatched to Mr. Lane, who

GEN. PHILIP READE DEAD

Was Born in This City 75 Years Ago

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Brig. Gen. Philip Reade of Lowell, who was retired after 44 years' service with the army, died at the Massachusetts General hospital today. He had gone to the institution for an operation which was delayed because of weakness and death came before it could be performed. The service of General Reade, included the Indian wars, the Civil war and the Spanish-American war, in which he fought both in Cuba and the Philippines. He was retired in 1908. Later he became active as an officer and historian of various military societies. He was 75 years of age.

General Reade was born in Lowell in 1844, the son of Henry and Rowena (Hildreth) Reade. He received his earliest education in the public schools of this city, but before becoming of college age decided upon a military life, which he commenced at Howland Military academy at Worcester. He went from there to West Point, where he received his army commission. He afterwards married Jessie Eaton of Troy, N. Y., who died about two years ago. His advance through military ranks was steady and carried him up to the commanding office of brigadier general.

General Reade has had no residence in Lowell for many years, although he often visited here up to a time about eight months ago. During recent months he made his home at the Hotel Wadsworth in Boston.

During the term of office of former Mayor James E. O'Donnell, General Reade presented a picture of himself and also his sword to the city of Lowell. They both hung in the mayor's reception room for a time, but later were transferred to Memorial hall and subsequently lost along with many other memorable relics and historical works when the fire destroyed the building in March, 1915.

GETS REPORTS OF BIG PROBLEMS

President Kept Informed on Threatened Strike, Treaty and Conference

Improvement in Condition Permits Him to Receive Reports From Tumulty

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—President Wilson is being kept informed as to the threatened strike of bituminous coal miners, the treaty situation in the senate and the national industrial conference. It was announced today at the White House that improvement in his condition during the past few days had made it possible for him to receive written reports from Secretary Tumulty on these and other pressing problems.

Hear Admiral Grayson, the president's physician, also permitted the president to have a letter yesterday from Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, administration leader in the treaty fight, outlining prospects for ratification of the treaty.

The president's physicians announced today that while he did not sleep so well last night, he showed no signs of fatigue this morning and that the prostatic condition was unchanged. The bulletin follows:
"White House, Oct. 21, 1919, 11:25 a. m.
"The president's prostatic condition remains as before. Chemical examination of the blood shows the kidneys to be functioning normally. He did not sleep so well last night, but shows no signs of fatigue this morning."

LOWELL MAY HAVE HOUSEWIVES' LEAGUE

It is understood that several local women are intensely interested in the proposed foundation of a housewives' league in Lowell for the immediate purpose of combatting the excessive cost of living and the shortage of sugar in the retail market in particular.

Although no steps have been taken toward the inception of such an organization, several representative women have given the scheme considerable thought and it is possible that the matter will be taken up through the channels of the Middlesex Women's Club.

Housewives' leagues have been accomplishing a great deal of good in cities where they have been active for some time and state and government officials have heartily endorsed them as one of the most effective means of getting at the root of the causes for shortages and rising prices.

Warren P. Rioridan, sealer of weights and measures, in informal discussions of the subject with several women has offered every aid possible which may come from his office, as he believes that an agency working within a community where a shortage exists can accomplish much more than a legislative committee which cannot have intimate knowledge of local conditions.

CITY COUNCIL HOLDS MEETING

Order Passed Calling Voters for State Election on Nov. 4

Polls to be Open From 6 a. m. to 4 p. m.—Routine Matters Discussed

Polls will be open in Lowell on election day, Nov. 4, from 6 a. m. to 4 p. m., according to an order passed this morning by the municipal council, calling the voters of the city together to elect state officers and to act on several referenda, including the question of the adoption or rejection of Plan B form of charter for this city and the installation of the double platoon system in the fire department.

This morning's session was purely routine. It was called at 10:37 with all members of the council present.

A hearing was held on the petition of the Lowell Electric Light corporation for permission to locate one pole in Varney street near Mt. Washington street to give service at 14-16 Varney street. John J. Mullane appeared in opposition to the petition, saying that there was already one pole in front of his premises and he didn't see why there should be another. The matter was finally referred to Commissioners Murphy and Marchand.

To Commissioner Morse were referred the petitions of the Brunelle Faulkner company, for a garage and gasoline at 607 Merrimack street, and Arthur Perry for a garage and gasoline at 513 Fletcher street.

The following petitions were held for hearings Nov. 4: Lowell Electric Light corporation, one pole location in A street, near Puffer, and a pole location in Chapel street, near Court avenue; the New England Telephone & Telegraph company, one pole in Grand street, and Edwin Littlehale, garage at 134 Middlesex street. The petition of the Anderson Tire Shop for gasoline at 42 John street was held for a hearing Nov. 11.

The petition of Daniel Fore for a sidewalk at 195 B street was referred to Commissioner Murphy.

Similar action was taken on the petitions of Charles Cushman et al. for an electric light at the entrance to Dalton court, and Nora D. Cotter et al. for an electric light in Fairgrove avenue.

An order calling a meeting of the qualified voters of the city at the state election to be held Nov. 4, for the purpose of electing state officers and passing on several referenda, was passed. The polls are to be open from 6 a. m. to 4 p. m.

Commissioners Murphy and Marchand reported favorably on the following petitions and the accompanying orders were adopted: New England Telephone & Telegraph Co., for permission to abandon a pole location in Nichols street; Lowell Electric Light Corp., for permission to erect and maintain one pole in Columbus avenue; Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. and the Lowell Electric Light Corp. for permission to erect and maintain joint poles in Pawtucket street near Fanning street; New England Electric Light Co., for permission to erect and maintain joint poles in Pawtucket street near Fanning street; New England Electric Light Co., for permission to erect and maintain joint poles in Pawtucket street near Fanning street; New England Electric Light Co., for permission to erect and maintain joint poles in Pawtucket street near Fanning street.

ASK U. S. TO SEND FOOD TO RUSSIA

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 21.—The United States minister here, I. N. Morris, has received a request by telegram from General Yudenitch and Premier Lianosov of the government of northwest Russia, urging the United States to send food and other necessities for Petrograd, which Yudenitch said he expected to take today. The request was forwarded to Washington.

Premier Lianosov's despatch asserted that Yudenitch's troops on Saturday last were only five miles from Petrograd.

Received at Washington
WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The request from General Yudenitch commanding the Russian Northwestern forces investing Petrograd, that the United States undertake the shipment of supplies to that city as soon as it has been captured, has been received from American Minister Morris at Stockholm and probably will be acted upon very soon. It was said today at the state department. The text of the message was not made public.

Arrest Expected in Connection With the Murder of Mary Fortuna

Police Believed to Have Clue to Ledge Hill Murder—Arrest May be Made This Afternoon—State, Lowell and Dracut Police Expect Early Developments

The state, Lowell and Dracut police are working hard on clues having to do with the murder of Mrs. Mary Fortuna whose near-nude body was found in the woods at Ledge Hill, Dracut, Sunday afternoon, and there is a rumor to the effect that an arrest will be made this afternoon. The rumor has not been confirmed by the police and neither has it been denied by them.

William H. Cullinan, chief of police of Dracut, and Silas P. Smith visited Lowell and other places hereabouts this morning and are carrying out the investigation ordered yesterday by District Attorney Tufts. At about one o'clock they paid a hurried visit to the police station and hastened away again. It was shortly after their departure that the rumor of an early arrest was passed along the line.

Relatives of the dead woman reported to the police on Oct. 7 that Mrs. Fortuna had disappeared. Questioning elicited the further information that she had been missing since Sept. 6, two days before she was to become the bride of Andrew Castenica, a Polish resident of this city, formerly of Florida, who is employed at the Beaver Brook farm, a short distance from the former home of Mrs. Fortuna on Tolman road, Dracut.

The utter absence of signs of any struggle in the dense underbrush where the body was found has led the police to the belief that the murder was committed at some other point. Aside from an undershirt, identified as part of Mrs. Fortuna's apparel, which ing were the only pieces of clothing on the body when found, and it was through these and a wisp of hair that identification was made.

Mrs. Fortuna married Joseph Fortuna in May, 1904, and two children, Victor and Hedwig, were born to them. In filing her divorce libel, which was granted in 1917, Mrs. Fortuna alleged that her husband had deserted her in May, 1911, and that she had no knowledge as to his whereabouts.

Fortuna has been working in Pawtucket, R. I., for the past few months, the police say. He was in Lowell last Saturday, according to the dead woman's brother, Joseph Targ, who conducts a restaurant on Lakeview ave.

The two children seem to have little realization of the tragedy which has become part of their lives. Hedwig has not missed a day at school since her mother disappeared, but Victor, the older, seems to feel that something has gone out of his life, something which can never be filled, although John Gandek and his wife are doing all in their power to make the youngsters forget what has happened. John accepts the new burden of two extra children with the same good nature that he displayed when Mrs. Fortuna became an inmate of the house following her divorce. John's wife is a trifle more subdued, but goes about her household duties, to which the care of the two children has added, much the same as in the past.

MISS O'REILLY TELLS STORY OF FLIGHT

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Miss Elizabeth Boyle O'Reilly, who was committed to Bellevue hospital by Magistrate Corrigan last Thursday for observation on a motion by her sister, Mary Boyle O'Reilly, who asserts that she is insane, testified in her own behalf yesterday at the hearing before Supreme Court Justice Wagner in chambers on the writ of habeas corpus which she obtained a few hours after her commitment.

Under questioning by her attorney, Benjamin D. Foster, Miss O'Reilly, who is a daughter of the late John Boyle O'Reilly, told of her early life and her experience in France with the American ambulance service with which she served during the war. Her memory of dates and events was unerring and her answers impressed all those present.

She also told how she had escaped from the sanitarium near Boston, where she had been sent by her sister soon after her return from France in April, 1918, but she refused to give the hour of her flight because, she said, it would reveal the identity of the person within the sanitarium who helped her.

She said that the reason her mother left her estate to her was that she considered her the head of the family. She said it was largely through her influence that her married sister, Mrs. Agnes Hocking, whose husband is an instructor in metaphysics at Harvard University, obtained a share of the income from her mother's estate. It was at the home of Mrs. Hocking in Boston, she testified, that she was handicapped by two doctors and taken to the sanitarium on April 20, 1918.

MISS MARY CLARK IN SONG RECITAL

The Middlesex Women's club heard Miss Mary Clark, pupil of Sembrich and Enrico Caruso, in a recital of operatic and simpler songs in Colonial hall yesterday afternoon. Naturally, it was Miss Clark's first appearance before a Lowell audience, for she is quite young and at present is in the midst of her first concert tour. Her program was one which an older singer might well have side-stepped, inasmuch as it demanded a great deal of hard work, but Miss Clark managed it with genuine success and to the pleasure of her listeners.

Her voice showed qualities, which, when fully developed, will win her wide admiration in the operatic world. It is flexible to a marked degree and travels through a wide range. Her singing of four familiar arias was a task in itself, but an admirable physique gave full evidence of her ability to withstand the tiring effects of an opera program. She is not without dramatic ability, as another asset, and showed excellent interpretative genius in several encore selections. The program follows:

Romeo and Juliet.....Gounod
Waltz Song.....Tosti
Ciao Ideal.....Gounod
Ave Maria.....Verdi
Higoleto.....Verdi
Caro Nome.....Verdi

ITALIAN AMBASSADOR DIES AT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Count V. Machi di Celleri, Italian ambassador to the United States since 1913, died in the Emergency hospital here last night as he was about to undergo an operation. He had been ill since Saturday.

The ambassador was removed from the embassy to the hospital last night after his physician had decided that only an operation would save his life. He reached the hospital at 5 o'clock and while on the operating table before the operation was started his death occurred at 9:40 o'clock. His death was pronounced as mesenteric thrombosis. Several members of the embassy staff were at the hospital when his death occurred. The ambassador was 53 years old.

Battleship to Convey Body
WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Diplomatic and official Washington today mourned the death of Count V. Machi di Celleri, Italian ambassador to the United States for the past six years. The ambassador's death occurred late last night as he was about to undergo an operation at a hospital here.

The illness of Count di Celleri dated from last Saturday, but not until yesterday was his condition considered serious. He then was hurried to a hospital, his physician hoping that an operation might save his life, but death came before the operation could be performed. His death was ascribed to mesenteric thrombosis—formation of a blood clot in the tissues of the mesentery.

Following diplomatic custom, the United States will assign a battleship to convey the body to Italy.

Ends Stubborn Coughs in a Hurry

For real effectiveness, this old home remedy has no equal. Coughs and croup are quickly relieved.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare, and really there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more powerful, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "3/4 ounce of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

$250,000,000 LOAN TO GREAT BRITAIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—J. P. Morgan & Co. announced yesterday a proposed loan of $250,000,000 for the British government in the form of three and ten-year government securities. The proceeds will be used in part to retire the outstanding bonds of about $135,000,000 British government 6 1/2 per cent notes maturing Nov. 1. The remainder will be available to the British government for its requirements in this country or for those of British merchants to whom the government may sell dollar exchange.

This is the largest financial project undertaken by American bankers since the close of the war. Its flotation is expected in financial circles to stabilize to a considerable extent the long prevailing weakness of exchange on London in this market. A statement issued by Morgan & Co. said:

"We have been authorized by the British government to place, on its behalf, in this country a loan which will give American investors a British government obligation yielding an attractive rate of return in dollars and with the right of conversion into sterling bond which contains distinct possibilities of profit, based on a return to more normal conditions in the exchange market."

"The new securities are in two classes to run for three years and for ten years, respectively, and the conversion privilege, which in effect

PRES. WILSON MAKES AN APPOINTMENT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Announcement that President Wilson had appointed Owen D. Young of Schenectady, N. Y., as a member of the public group of the national industrial conference was cited by White House officials as refuting reports that Mr. Wilson's illness had rendered him incapable of attending to any business.

These officials said it was not the first official action the president had taken since he became ill. Rear-Admiral Grayson, his physician, it was asserted, however, would continue to do what he can to dissuade the patient from giving his attention to any affairs other than those regarded as absolutely essential.

The appointment of Mr. Young was considered necessary inasmuch as a place in the public group of the industrial conference had been vacated by the ill-health of F. C. C. Callaway, the delegate originally appointed.

been reached by Rear Admiral Grayson, it was learned today.

White House officials, however, were more optimistic as to the president's condition and expressed the opinion he at last seemed to be started on an uninterrupted course toward recovery.

This feeling of optimism was based largely on the bulletin issued last night by Dr. Grayson, saying that the president yesterday had a "better day than usual." Also it was said that no new complications had entered into the president's illness.

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY
Miss J. Macklin Beattie, director of the Community Service for Girls, was the principal speaker at a meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church, held last evening with Miss A. M. Wyllie and Mrs. Janet Jamieson. Miss Beattie gave a delightful talk on the results which are being accomplished by the organization and stated that Lowell girls are joining the club in large numbers.

RETURNED SOLDIER AND SAILOR

Arthur F. Sullivan, director of the after-care department for the Boston Metropolitan chapter Red Cross Home Service, will discuss problems of the returned soldier and sailor at the Red Cross rooms, 51 Merrimack street, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Everyone interested in the work and future of the soldier is welcome. Mr. Sullivan is one of the best informed men in New England in reconstruction problems. Although deprived of sight for many years he has devoted his life to work among the poor and those physically handicapped.

The problems presented to Red Cross workers are as numerous and varied as there are causes for human worry. Whatever the problem, the Red Cross Home Service section is ready to help. Meeting these and thousands of similar problems is the work of "Home Service."

In the North Middlesex chapter hundreds of soldiers and sailors and their families are cared for monthly. Under the supervision of the Lowell Social Service league the Red Cross has workers who care for at least 400 families a month. John Brophy, an ex-soldier, has charge of the after-care department, dealing with the returned men. The supervision of the 26 districts of the chapter is in charge of Miss Alice Sullivan, who directs the family and after-care work.

FOLEY AWARDED $9120.75

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 21.—Matthew Foley, who received injuries causing amputation of one leg while unloading coal from the steamer Lake Louise and who brought suit against the United States railroad administration, was awarded a verdict of $9120.75 by a jury in the supreme court yesterday.

SURPRISE PARTY

An enjoyable surprise party was given Miss Alice Boisvert, who recently celebrated her 19th birthday, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Moes Boisvert, 426 Moody street. The young woman received many presents and during the evening games and music were enjoyed. Refreshments were served.

No ache

The rational treatment for headache is to get at the cause, if possible, and remove it. Headache is only a symptom of trouble somewhere in the system, and dosing with tablets or powders containing acetanilid or other coal-tar derivatives which stop the pain temporarily but weaken the heart, is at once unsafe and unwise. The headache may come from your eyes, then a good oculist can help you; at once with proper eyeglasses; but if it comes with furred tongue, loss of appetite, nausea, and constipation, it is usually the result of disordered digestion, or torpid liver, and one or two doses of "L. F." Atwood's Medicine will speedily help you by carrying off impurities and restoring the clogged digestive organs to their normal weakening the heart's action. You are not getting rid of your headache for a day or two, you are getting at the cause of illness and creating a permanent improvement.

For sixty years it has proved a safe and reliable standby for sick headache. Large bottles, small dose, fifty cents at any dealer's. The "L. F." Medicine Co., Portland, Maine.

Plans For Revolt in Alsace

PARIS, Oct. 21.—(Havas)—Plans for a revolt in Alsace to take place on Nov. 9 have been discovered at Strasbourg, according to the Echo de Paris. The alleged archconspirator, an engineer named Koessler, has been arrested, with two accomplices, and it is said that a leader of a socialist union, a former Alsatian deputy and a French socialist, are believed to have been implicated. A search of Koessler's residence, is reported to have revealed a large number of propaganda pamphlets and a fund of 35,000 marks. The revolt was to be called on the day that a communist uprising in Germany is said to be scheduled.

Disabled Steamer on Way to Boston

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—The steamer Waxahachie, reported disabled by machinery trouble, is on her way to this port in tow of the British steamer Nicolo de Larrinaga. A message received by the naval wireless station today said the ships would reach here tomorrow morning. According to a message picked up last Sunday, the Waxahachie was then 1000 miles southeast of New York with the steamers Sagua and Samland standing by. The Waxahachie was last reported at St. Nazaire and was bound for Baltimore.

You are sure to see SOMETHING on the flames!

WOULD YOU KNOW WHOM YOU
ARE DESTINED TO WED—BUILD A GHOST FIRE HALLOWEEN

This is the night of Halloween
When all the witches may be seen;
Some of them black, some of them
green,
Some of them like a turkey bean.
Whatever a "turkey bean" may be like—

Nevertheless the fact remains that for centuries young men and maidens on the eve of All Saints Day have invoked ghostly information as to their futures.

There are many methods of doing this—such as holding a candle lighted mirror over your head and walking backward down a crooked stairway as the clock strikes midnight. If you are a girl the apparition of your future husband will cloud the mirror's surface. If you are a man vice versa.

YOUR FUTURE HUSBAND.
But the oldest as well as most mirth-provoking mode of procedure is

the ghost fire.

A ghost fire is made as follows:

A big dish pan is placed in the center of the floor of a dark room. The pan contains some four or five pounds of salt which has been fairly well saturated with wood alcohol. The party gathers around the pan, chanceling the incantation quoted above.
Each has been given a chestnut, and each chestnut has been marked in some distinguishing way. A lighted match is thrown on the salt, which breaks into a blaze that gives off an uncanny green light. The chestnuts are then thrown in, and the girl whose chestnut pops first will be the first bride. Of course, she must immediately eat the chestnut. But—that is not all.

She is supposed to see the face of her future husband arising from the flames!

THE GHOST FIRE.
This ghost fire is a direct survival of the earliest Druid rituals. In Scotland, Ireland, and Wales Druid-ism left its impress upon the later Christian faith, and to this day traces of its fire altars are still found.

Now the Druids believed in transmigration of souls, and on the eve of their festival to the sun they lighted their fire altars to propitiate the spirits of darkness. The custom was kept up in parts of Great Britain until a comparatively recent period. None of the levity caused by the modern "witch fire" however was attached to this observance. Instead of chestnuts being roasted white stones, each previously marked with the name of a member of the family, were thrown into the Halloween fire. Prayers were then said and the family went to bed hoping to find all the stones again in the morning. If any stone were missing, it betokened that the owner of it would die within the year.

White some superstitions are preter, this was one of many which were cruel. Happily only sportiveness remains today of this quaint, old-time ceremony, and whatever incantations are chanted have to do with healthy nonsense.

CLEMENCEAU CONVERTED

Tree Obstructed His Vision of Heaven and Priest Had
it Removed

PARIS, Oct. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier Clemenceau's former hostility to priests and anything religious is well known, but the old premier has undergone an evolution in his ideas concerning the clergy. M. Clem-enceau's home in Rue Franklin is immediately adjacent to the building occupied by a religious community, the Fathers of St. Louis, who boasted of a wonderful garden with a majestic plane tree, the huge leaves of which completely darkened the window of the premier's private office. Clemenceau sent a note to Father Tregard, intimating that the removal of the plane tree would be greatly appreciated. The priest did not reply; the plane tree still remained and Clemenceau renewed his request. Finally the priest called upon the premier.

"Please do me the favor of having this tree removed," pleaded Clemenceau. "It obstructs my vision of heaven."

So pious a wish could not remain unanswered and the tree came down.

BEWITCHING FROCK FOR HALLOWEEN DANCE

BY BETTY BROWN

NEW YORK, October.—What could be more bewitching for the Halloween dance than this old timey frock of cloudy chiffon and lace?

Built of layers of shell-pink, the lightest of chrome yellows, and pale green chiffon over an undersheath of silver cloth this gown is a dream of moonlight on water.

Like all the really good looking clothes this season its fundamental keynote is simplicity, depending wholly on material and line for effect. The foundation of silver cloth is a plain narrow skirted slip. The pink chiffon underskirt, a straight piece of material some two yards round, is gathered at the waistline. It is laid on the bodice plain, reaching over the shoulders to form the very short kimono sleeves. The silver cloth ends just above the bust line. The yellow chiffon is handled in the same manner, save that the skirt instead of being only two is three yards wide and has inserts of broad lace bands as shown in the sketch. The last layer of chiffon is the palest imaginable green, draped over the bodice with some suggestion of fullness, and with its skirt at least four yards in width tightly gathered at the waist.

It should be noted that the bodice makes its own girdle with just a suggestion of a basque emphasized by the V-shaped trim ending in a rosette with fluttering ends. Inch wide velvet ribbon of dull water green is used.

OKLAHOMA SUPPORTERS OF LEAGUE WIN

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 21.—Oklahoma supporters of the League of Nations today claimed a clean cut victory in last Saturday's primary in the 8th congressional district, through the apparent overwhelming defeat of Edward Boyle, anti-league candidate for the democratic nomination. Boyle on the face of virtually complete returns, finished eighth in a list of nine candidates.

Claude Weaver, who made an active campaign on a pro-league platform, received the democratic nomination, according to returns from 261 out of 259 precincts.

J. W. Harvold, who received the republican nomination, has announced that he expects his opposition to the league to carry him into office. The election is to name a successor to the late Representative Joseph E. Thompson.

WOULD ABOLISH SUNDAY "MOVIES"

The Lowell Federation of Churches, meeting last evening at the Young Men's Christian association, delegated a committee to investigate the class of pictures being shown in local "movie" houses, with the ultimate aim of attempting to abolish Sunday performances altogether and raising the standard of pictures shown, on week days. The members assembled also accepted a resolution presented by Rev. N. W. Matthews of the Goshorn Street P. M. church, endorsing the plea of the Lowell firemen for the two-platoon system.

The appointment of a committee to commence a campaign against Sunday motion picture entertainments came after a report of the social service committee on the Sabbath Day opening of theatres. The committee, headed by Rev. E. T. Favre of the Paige Street Baptist church, is empowered only to investigate and report back to the federation at a special meeting to be called soon. The resolution adopted, endorsing

GERMAN COLONIZATION PLANS FOR MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Monday, Oct. 20.—Concrete evidence of German colonization plans for Mexico was revealed here today with the announcement of an enterprise for the irrigation of 200,000 hectares of land in the Puente river valley, in the state of Sinaloa, where thousands of German emigrants are expected to buy small parcels on a 20-year payment plan.

The corporation is being floated by Jose Meakery, a Mexico City capitalist, with the support of Gen. Ramon Huarte, governor of Sinaloa. The land is declared to be extremely fertile and the plan is being backed by German banks here.

LOWELL REPRESENTED AT CONVENTION OF UNITED TEXTILE WORKERS OF AMERICA

Ten or more Lowell men and women are attending the annual convention of the United Textile Workers of America, which went into session at Baltimore, Md., yesterday. Among those from this city are Thomas J. Reagan and John Hanley, and the former again is a candidate for a position on the executive board of the international body.

The Bottlers' union met last night, with President Harry Moran presiding. Among the items of business considered was the double-platoon system for firemen and it received the endorsement of the body.

The Velvet and Corduroy workers also endorsed the firemen's plea at a meeting held last evening, while the Loomfixers convened under Vice President Thibeault.

FIGHT TO STOP GERMAN OPERA

Police Disperse Crowd of Service Men Outside New York Theatre

Concert Goes on in Defiance
of Mayor's Order—Shots
Fired—Several Injured

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Mounted police last night charged a crowd of 300 service men massed in front of the Lexington theatre to prevent production of German opera, upon which Mayor Hylan had placed an official ban.

Dispersed by the police, the service men hastened to Times square, recruited nearly 1000 civilians and returned to the Opera House. One section of the line engaged in a fight with the police, laying down a barrage of bricks and stones.

Some Shots Fired

In the melee some shots were fired, but whether by police or the indignant service men, spectators could not determine. Scores of windows were smashed by stones and one man suffered a fracture of the hip.

A block of cement was hurled from the roof of a building opposite the theatre. It struck the mudguard of a passing automobile and rolled to the sidewalk, almost striking two police inspectors.

Detectives, ordered to the roof, arrested Joseph Smith, a sailor from the U.S.S. Imperator, on a charge of disorderly conduct. A few minutes later a mounted policeman was struck in the face by a billiard ball.

Various posts of the American Legion had adopted resolutions condemning introduction of German opera scheduled for last night. Yesterday representatives of the Manhattan Naval post waited on Mayor Hylan with a petition that the performance be stopped. After consultation the mayor issued an order prohibiting the performance, but, despite this order, the sale of tickets continued.

In announcing his decision the mayor said: "Although the American Legion failed to produce proof of German propaganda, and I am convinced that there is no propaganda connected with the opening, yet it is my judgment that the opening of this opera should be deferred until after the ratification of the treaty of peace."

Croix de Guerre Man Leads

Hundreds of soldiers, sailors and marines gathered in front of the theatre, watched the sale of tickets continue, and when the doors opened they raised a howl of derision and anger.

Then, with an American banner at its head, a long column of uniformed men appeared down the street. Upon their avuncular call for police reserves was sent in. The service men were led by a marine wearing a Croix de Guerre. A few minutes after the curtain had been raised and the strains of German music sifted out through the doors, the veterans pressed forward, but only to be driven back and temporarily dispersed by mounted police.

On learning that directors of the Star Opera company intended to give the performance regardless of his order, the mayor sent Grover A. Whalen, commissioner of plants and structures, to the theatre and after receiving a report by telephone, dictated the following statement:

"After concluding that the opera should be deferred until the ratification of the treaty of peace, I endeavored to reach the corporation counsel to advise with him as to my legal right to have the police arbitrarily refuse to allow people to enter the Lexington theatre.

"It was impossible to reach the corporation counsel and I therefore advised the police not to interfere until I could obtain the advice of the corporation counsel to the end that I may proceed legally."

"We are faced with a serious world

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES

If you have roaring, buzzing noises in your ears, are getting hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmit (double strength), and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal trouble of the ears, head noises or has heard of this prescription should give this prescription a trial.—Adv.

CULTIVATION OF THRIFT URGED

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 21.—Stimulation and cultivation of thrift to combat radicalism were urged by speakers at the convention of the Investment Bankers' association here today.

Persons having investments will not entertain ideas tending toward destruction of the government, George W. Hodges, of New York, nominee for president of the association, told the convention.

An advertising campaign against fraudulent stock and bond brokers was advocated by Rudolph Guenther, of New York.

"Many persons who have small amounts to invest don't know whom to consult, and consequently fall easy prey to unscrupulous swindlers," asserted Mr. Guenther. "By judicious advertising, these people can be reached and as a result the number of legitimate investments would increase and a severe blow be dealt to these swindlers."

APPLES GOOD FOR THAT TIRED FEELING

The basis of health is diet and wise housewives are constantly searching for information about food for they realize that before all else they must keep their families not only nourished but healthily nourished. They also, who have this problem at heart, know that to stimulate the faded appetite they must appeal to the eye.

The apple, as old as the Garden of Eden, is just beginning to be appreciated as an important article of diet. Until recently apples have been eaten simply because they are a delicious fruit and because they are considered healthful but just why has never been really understood.

Apples contain more iron, necessary to provide red corpuscles than is obtained from flour, which makes bread, "the staff of life." Iron is necessary to the body for energy. There is more fuel value in the good ripe apple per pound (255 calories) than in beef, string beans, egg-plant, carrots, tomatoes, squash, canned peas, turnips, oysters, kumquats or buttermilk. Calcium is another content of the apple. Calcium is indispensable to the health of the bones and the teeth and all intestinal secretions. Calcium and potassium are found in equal proportions in the apple and both are of real value to the body. Every cell of the healthy body contains potassium, but when food lacking this necessity is consumed, the body quickly loses its healthy quality. Magnesium, another content of the apples, serves as a phosphorus carrier in vegetable nutrition and without phosphorus there would be no living cell in the body. So you can see that the .03 per cent of phosphorus in a good ripe apple is valuable indeed.

It has been found upon investigation that the prevalent malnutrition throughout America is not due to any lack of protein, but more especially to the lack of calcium and phosphorus in the over refined food stuffs so much in vogue at present.

These are the scientific facts about apples—take them to heart, oh you housewives, who desire to feed your families with a view to health. Keep apples within reach. Appeal to the

Buy Wasteless Heating $114

World's Greatest Invention!

New IDEAL-Arcola Radiator-Boiler

Puts IDEAL HOT WATER HEATING comfort at low cost
in cottages, flats, or stores, with or without cellars

The IDEAL-Arcola takes the place of a parlor stove. But a stove wastes much of its heat up the chimney, whereas the IDEAL-Arcola is water-jacketed, and conveys its heat by hot water circulation through pipe-connected AMERICAN Radiators stationed in the adjoining rooms. Every bit of the big volume of heat developed from each pound of fuel is therefore made useful in keeping ALL the rooms uniformly, healthfully warm. There is no coal-waste. The IDEAL-Arcola does not rust out or wear out—will outlast the building—is a genuine, permanent investment!

Shipped complete ready for immediate operation

The beauty of the IDEAL-Arcola method is that no cellar is needed. Everything is on one floor. The Arcola is placed in any room that has a chimney connection. No running to cellar. If there are two or more tenants in the building, each can have his own Arcola and make the temperature to suit his own needs—can make his own climate! If you do not wish at first to heat the entire building, buy a small size IDEAL-Arcola and later on buy extra sections for the IDEAL-Arcola and two or three more radiators to warm more rooms.

free from fire risks!

Unlike stoves, there are no coal-gas leaks into the living-rooms. The IDEAL-Arcola delivers the soft, radiant warmth of hot water—not the dry, burnt-out atmosphere of stove heating. There is no fire risk to building—no danger to children—fire lasts for hours! The Arcola burns hard or soft coal, coke, gas, or wood. Brings cost of heating down to the lowest notch—and gives IDEAL comfort.

ONTARIO GOES "DRY"

Returns for Election Show
Overwhelming Majority
for Prohibition

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 21.—Incomplete returns from yesterday's election, in which Sir William Hearst, premier of the province and the conservative government have been swamped, indicate that Ontario has gone "dry" by an overwhelming majority.

Throughout the province, especially in the rural districts, the prohibition wave has rolled high. The voting was 3 to 1 in favor of it in some districts.

The defeat of the Hearst conservative government, according to Mall and Empire, conservative organ, was due mainly to the big vote polled by the United Farmers' and labor candidates who took 43 and 12 seats, respectively. The liberals despite their win of five seats in Toronto, will stand apparently as they stood in the last legislature.

The largest single party in the new house will be the farmers. By alliance with either of the old parties and the labor party it should command a working majority. Just what will be the new government in Ontario will remain doubtful, until the new legislature meets.

It purifies the blood, clears the skin and chases away that worn out feeling. Brew a cup tonight just like you make tea. You'll like it!—Adv.

ture meets. The Hearst government will remain in power until that time.

If the prime minister does not succeed in reaching a working agreement with any other party in the house, he will tender his resignation to the lieutenant governor. The lieutenant governor probably would then ask either the farmers or the liberals to form a cabinet.

POLICE FORCE

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Gov. Coolidge said late yesterday afternoon that the situation regarding the recruiting of the Boston police force is "generally satisfactory" and that it is probable there will be no further effort to obtain applicants from other cities.

The governor's statement was preceded by a conference with Police Commissioner Edwin U. Curtis, Herbert Parker, the commissioner's counsel and Civil Service Commissioner Elmer L. Curtis. Police Commissioner Curtis had been sent for by the governor, who desired information regarding the recruiting.

At the conclusion of their conference Gov. Coolidge said: "The situation is generally satisfactory. Of course it cannot be completely satisfactory until Boston has a new police force, but the progress that is being made is satisfactory."

"Today 61 men made application for appointment; the total number of applicants who have passed the police examining board is approximately 1000, and of these 495 have been certified to Police Commissioner Curtis for appointment. In view of the number of daily applications being made by residents of Boston and vicinity, it is probable that there will be no further efforts to obtain applicants in other large cities of the commonwealth."

Several negroes were among those passed for the new police force yesterday. Many of the others were men who can speak languages other than English.

$100,000 Riot Damage

City Clerk Donovan turned over yesterday all claims due to looting to the first night of the police strike, exceeding $100,000, to the city council committee on claims. After they are scrutinized they will be handed to the law department.

ELIZABETH HALS

ADVOCATES SHORT
HAIR FOR WOMEN

WASHINGTON, October.—Miss Elizabeth Hals, editor of the Suffragist, has bobbed her hair and predicts that soon all women will discover the advantages of short locks.

"The day of the short-haired woman will soon be here in reality," said Miss Hals. "I cut mine for convenience's sake and under no circumstances would I let it grow long again. My head feels better, I am rid of hairpins, I don't have to hang my head out at the window over the fire escape for hours to dry my hair when I wash it. Men got onto this centuries ago, but women are adopting it with their new freedom."

Miss Hals was graduated from Rice Institute, Houston, Texas, in 1916, being with the first graduating class of that school. Her diploma gave her an A.B. degree, bearing the words "with distinction." She studied literature a year at the University of Chicago, then came to Washington and served five days in the District of Columbia jail for being a militant picket. A hunger strike made it necessary to take her from prison on a stretcher.

THE RED CROSS HOME SERVICE DEPARTMENT

To the man in the American Expeditionary Force, or his family across the sea, the home service department of the American Red Cross, which will conduct its nationwide roll call or drive for members and funds from Nov. 2 to 11, was a great means of consolation during the war and afterwards. Often, in cases of great emergency, this department of the Red Cross was the only communication possible and to widely separated families and loved ones. It furnished longed-for details.

In response to many requests from the United States, together with the plea of the Polish people themselves, this service now has been added to the work carried on by the American Red Cross in Poland, according to information received from Warsaw by the North Middlesex chapter, with headquarters in this city.

By Polish-Americans on this side of the Atlantic and by families of Poles who emigrated to this country, the Red Cross is regarded at present as almost the only connecting link. Particularly is this true when relatives in Poland are located in remote districts where regular mail service has not been re-established.

Investigating the circumstances of families of young Polish-Americans who served in the United States service during the war is one of the primary functions of the home service department. Through its workers in the field, in response to letters from the United States, this bureau locates families, reports on conditions and relieves distress. The Red Cross also is helping the United States government to find beneficiaries of government insurance in Poland. It facilitates the delivery of payments to proper persons, some of whom are at points inaccessible through ordinary channels.

This is but one instance of the great amount of after-war work being done by the Red Cross, whose field is equally as broad and urgent as during the days of strife. European countries still ask for aid and every bit possible is being sent over by chapters in this country. Chapter treasuries have become depleted and unless memberships are renewed and other subscriptions received, the local work cannot go on. The roll call of members will emphasize these points to show that the work of the humanitarian organization is just as needed and important today as it was two years ago.

Six million dollars have been collected at Buenos Aires as a fund to combat Bolshevism.

ANSWERS SEN. WILLIAMS' ATTACK ON IRISH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—The Irish National Bureau here today made public a letter from Michael J. O'Brien, historiographer of the American Irish Historical Society of New York, to Senator Williams, Democrat, Mississippi, in which reply was made to the senator's attack on the Irish in the senate last week.

Referring to Senator Williams' statement that he had received "threatening letters" Mr. O'Brien said that if any Irishmen were responsible for them "they do not represent genuine Irish feeling" and suggested that the letters originated with enemies of Ireland.

Taking up the senator's assertion that the Irish had exaggerated the part their race played in the revolutionary war, Mr. O'Brien quoted from official documents in the government archives in London, photographic copies of which he said he enclosed, to show that the British commanders in the revolutionary war regarded the Irish in America as their "most serious antagonists."

He also said he had "found abundant evidence to show that Irish soldiers in the British army took every opportunity of deserting to the rebels," and added that he had found that at least 35 per cent of the "American army of liberty" were of Irish birth or of Irish descent.

"Of 100 surnames of an ancient Irish origin, I have counted on the rolls of the revolutionary army a total of 12,293," he wrote, adding that there were nearly 1500 officers of Irish blood, and that General Washington chose as his aides a number of natives of Ireland and sons of Irish immigrants.

FIND SMALLPOX CASE AT LAWRENCE

LAWRENCE, Oct. 21.—One case of smallpox, the first discovered here for 12 years, was reported to the board of health yesterday. Mrs. Jane Turner, 40, of 229 Merrimack street, the victim, has been removed to the isolation hospital and several people residing in a tenement block have been placed under quarantine. Police are guarding the house day and night.

State health officials are co-operating with the local authorities. As a safeguard, however, 300 employees of a local mill where one of the tenants in the house works will be vaccinated, as will employees of a machine company at North Andover, where Mrs. Turner's son works.

Mrs. Turner, who is the mother of a number of children, returned from a visit to Auburn, Me., Sept. 16. Health officials believe she may have contracted the disease while on the visit.

MILD WINTER AHEAD; SAYS HERMIT JOE

KANE, Penn., Oct. 21.—"Nuts are thicker'n wood ticks in the Big Woods, but the squirrels are storin' 'way less 'n ten than you town folks is puttin' 'way taters at $1.50 an' up a bushel, and you can just bet the bearskin you feller ain't goin' to get that the winter'll be a darn mild one," said Hermit Joe of the Big Woods to hunters in that neighborhood yesterday.

The old man, who predicts the winters every year, explained further his reasons for risking his reputation on a mild winter. The bears this year are mostly scrawny and light furred, according to Joe, and they are not in a hurry to get their winter homes, while the fur on small animals indicates to the hermit that the winter will be light. Old citizens say his predictions never fail.

BIG COON TACKLES PETERSHAM MAN

WARE, Oct. 21.—John Carter of Petersham, while passing under a chestnut tree in the woods yesterday, was very much surprised when a 30-pound coon dropped from the branches to his shoulders and started a lively little scrap, which ended only when the coon was killed.

The animal bit and scratched Carter in several places, biting through his hand and making several gashes in his arms. Mr. Carter was treated by a doctor on his arrival home.

Hunters claim this is the first time they recall hearing of a coon looking for trouble before cornered.

In 1875, Lydia E. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., gathered and dried the roots and herbs which she used in the now famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, from the fields and forests, — then steeped them on her kitchen stove and filled a few bottles at a time, to alleviate the suffering of her women friends, neighbors and acquaintances, and the success of this medicine was unparalleled.

After 44 Years

These illustrations show the present method by which vast quantities of this well-known remedy are produced and from exactly the same kind of roots and herbs used by Mrs. Pinkham in the beginning.

First—The various herbs used are of the finest quality, and gathered at the time their medicinal strength is the highest.

Second—After the herbs are properly ground and mixed, the medicinal properties are extracted by soaking in large stone jars, covered.

Third—Then the extract is drained through percolators, acting somewhat like a coffee percolator.

Fourth—To insure a thoroughly pure medicine, it is carefully pasteurized by heat in special apparatus, and bottled hot.

Throughout the entire process, from the crude herb to the finished medicine in bottle, cleanliness and exactness are the watch-words.

The Reliability of Testimonials Guaranteed

The testimonials published by the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Company come to them unsolicited. Never knowingly have they published an untruthful letter, never is a letter published without the written consent of the writer. The reason that thousands of women from all parts of the country write such grateful letters is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives, once burdened with pain and illness. It is easy to realize how these poor, suffering women feel when restored to health; and their keen desire to help other women who are suffering as they did.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of Robert L. Mitchell, who died Oct. 17, 1915. In the Eden gently sleeping. Where the flowers sweetly wave, Lies the one we loved so dearly In his lonely silent grave. He will never be forgotten. Never shall his memory fade. Sweetest thoughts will always linger 'Round the grave where he is laid. HIS LOVING WIFE AND SON.

If Too Thin Try Bitro-Phosphate

While excessive thinness might be attributed to various and subtle causes in different individuals, it is a well-known fact that the lack of phosphorus in the human system is very largely responsible for this condition. It seems to be well established that this deficiency in phosphorus may now be met by the use of Bitro-Phosphate, which can be obtained from any good druggist in convenient tablet form.

In many instances the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve tissue soon produces a welcome change—nerve tension disappears, vigor and strength replace weakness and lack of energy and the whole body loses its ugly hollows and abrupt angles, becoming enveloped in a glow of perfect health and beauty and the will and strength to be up and doing.

CAUTION—While Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.

It was explained, was to use it at his discretion.

The conference was not in session when Mr. Lane received the communication, having met at 10:15 a. m., and adjourned at the request of the labor group after two resolutions had been presented. It was said the letter might not be presented to the conference immediately, but held in reserve to be used only when danger of the conference breaking up became acute.

The serious situation in the conference was reported to the president early today after a conference between Chairman Lane, Secretary Wilson of the labor department, Bernard M. Baruch, chairman of the public group, Thomas L. Chabourne, chairman of the committee of 15, and Secretary Tumulty. The president immediately dictated the letter to a stenographer and signed the complete copy, with a lead pencil.

Hand Somewhat Shaky

The president's signature was written on the bias across the sheet and apparently his hand was somewhat shaky when he signed it.

Before the brief session today, Chairman Lane said the conference would not be permitted to end its work and that the leaders of the three groups, capital, labor and the public, had decided to frame a new and comprehensive program, involving all industrial issues of a general nature. It was understood that reference to the specific issues that has caused the present situation would be avoided.

While there was no talk of bolting the conference, several members of the labor group plainly were impatient. Delegates in the public group, however, were confident that the labor representatives would not leave the conference.

Among the resolutions introduced this morning was one by I. F. Loree of the capital group, urging a declaration in favor of employers furnishing insurance policies covering the five major hazards: sickness, accident, unemployment, superannuation and death. Mr. Loree said such policies "would enable the insured to set up an estate with the initial payment, would relieve from the fear of want, would give security and independence and would encourage the habits of thrift."

Under a resolution by T. C. Atkeson, a farmers' delegate in the capital group, the conference would declare in favor of the right of farmers to form co-operative marketing organizations in order to maintain the price of their products.

Timothy Shea, chief of the brotherhood of firemen and engineers, took his seat in the labor group today in the place of P. J. McNamara. Mr. Shea said he had been unable to attend heretofore, owing to negotiations with the railroad companies.

TO STOP LYNCHINGS

The National Equal Rights league with headquarters in Boston has protested against the alarming outbreak of mob violence which resulted in the lynching of a considerable number of negroes.

This association cannot too strongly denounce the unbridled cruelty of the mobs which committed these crimes nor the apparent connivance of local authorities with the exception of the Omaha case. Too often the jails are ready to submit without any show of resistance to the demand of the mob that some negro prisoner be turned over to it to be subjected to the most barbarous cruelties and finally burned alive.

Two overpowered reasons are urged in support of the appeal to the national government to put down lynching, the first being one of simple justice for the negroes who have a right to court trials same as other criminals when they violate the law; and second, to remove the disgrace of such outrages which have no parallel in any other civilized nation.

It is true that the states have failed utterly to stop the lynchings and that if such crimes are not to go on and even to be increased, the federal authorities must step in to see that negro prisoners shall have justice dealt out to them by the courts and not be subject to the brutal vengeance of their white neighbors who are unwilling to grant justice to the negroes and who lynch them for offenses which if committed by whites would receive but a passing notice.

Apart from the injustice to the negroes, the menace of mob rule has reached such alarming proportions as to make imperative the adoption of some fixed policy of prevention under federal control.

The manner in which the negroes responded to the call for service in the late war and their bravery and patriotism as shown on the battlefields of Europe, entitle them to justice which they can never obtain in such states as Georgia, the Carolinas and some others, unless the federal government makes it compulsory and holds the states responsible for such brutalizing outrages.

REV. DR. PARK'S PLAN

Rev. J. Edgar Park of Newton, recently returned from Ireland, gives a very sensible view of the political situation. Rev. Dr. Park is a Protestant clergyman and a native of Ulster, so that he understands the situation better than people who have never visited the country and who get their information through biased sources. He states that the solution of the Irish problem must come in the form of a compromise on dominion home rule and that the government, if necessary, should coerce Ulster into accepting it.

In this statement Rev. Dr. Park strikes the root of the whole controversy. If England had granted an acceptable measure of home rule applicable to all of Ireland, there would not have been any trouble. She is now suppressing the Sinn Féin party by military force and unless she grants dominion home rule there will be no possibility of a settlement, as the Irish people would fight on for fifty years longer, rather than see their little country divided on factional lines. There never would have been any trouble between the religious denominations, if it were not for government agitators such as Carson, who are rewarded by high appointments for their opposition to the other provinces of Ireland.

Dr. Park puts the situation in the following terms:

"If Great Britain can give Ireland a measure of dominion home rule and coerce Ulster into accepting this solution, the arrangement, especially under a League of Nations, would work out well. Only in this way, I am convinced, can Ireland secure an independence which will be in any way satisfactory to both sides."

Inasmuch as the home rule act now on the statute book is to take effect automatically with the declaration of peace, perhaps England may decide to settle the question as Dr. Park suggests. Although there would be protests from the extreme element, the solution might finally work out to the satisfaction of all parties, as it would offer the Irish people the right to self-government, which they have been seeking for the last 100 years.

THREE THINGS NEEDED

There are three things that congress can do at once to safeguard the households of America; to curb the crooks that are plotting against every American pocketbook.

First—The Lever food bill, with a prison penalty for food gamblers, should be extended to operate after peace is signed.

Second—The power of the sugar equalization board should be extended after January 1, 1920.

Third—The scheme to boost the price of coffee, in which the Brazilian government is the accomplice of food speculators, should be rigorously investigated.

Not one argument has been offered against any of these measures. The department of justice promises to cut prices down to normal by jailing profiteers. It pleads with congress to give it a fair opportunity. President Wilson asked for legislation against profiteering ten weeks ago. One reason that congress stalls and delays is that the public is doing nothing. Of course, everyone complains and protests and wonders why. But a two-cent stamp, an envelope and a sheet of paper will carry your wishes straight to the men who have the power to help you.

Food speculators, with millions at stake, aren't idle—not for a minute. You, with your earnings and savings at stake—why don't you help? Just write, "Dear Senator" or "Dear Congressman." Don't forget us. Guard us against the profiteer by pushing the measures needed to fight the high cost of living. Give us as much protection in peacetime as we had in wartime.

The appeals of the national leaders, the press and public economists will have more weight if backed up by the people.—N. E. A.

TREATY RESERVATIONS

The treaty reservations will not affect the treaty itself but will mainly show the position of the American senate relative to certain provisions. This mode of objecting to something which we are to accept may appear to have little significance for the present; but in the not distant future our reservations may be made the pretext for a lively fight in the League of Nations and may even cause the United States to withdraw. It can be easily imagined what a demand will go forth from the American senate two or three years hence, if by that time, Japan has not turned back Shantung to China.

The whole Shantung question will again be brought up not only in the League of Nations, but in the American senate and house.

On whatever pretense Japan got hold of Shantung, she will be called upon to abandon it in accordance with her promise. If allowed to hold the province for four or five years, she will have supplanted many of the Chinese residents so that a referendum might declare in her favor.

But the United States senate will watch the action of Japan in the premises and will insist that she withdraw before she can have time to carry out the Japanizing process.

FRENCH INTELLECTUALS

The college professors of France are to decide by a referendum whether they shall form a national association and affiliate with a labor organization as a means of securing higher salaries. The school teachers of that country already have joined a labor federation, although their right to do so has not been recognized by the government. The college professors are agitating for a great organization to be known as the National Federation of Intellectuals to include all technical men, journalists, school teachers, professors, authors, doctors and lawyers. This proposition indicates that something of the Bolshevik spirit has struck the "intellectuals," so that in France the radical professors are liable to become the leaders of the Reds.

It is rather surprising that the highly educated classes should resort to this method of securing better compensation for their services. After such patriotic sacrifices as they voluntarily made during the war, it might be assumed that they would not readily lend themselves to any movement that would embarrass the government.

WM. E. RUSSELL

The admirers of the late Governor Russell, and they are numerous in Middlesex county, will be glad to support his son and namesake, William E. Russell, now candidate on the democratic ticket for the office of district attorney for Middlesex county. Well fitted by education and training for the office he seeks, he is assured of the support of a large section of the republican party throughout the county as a recognition of his personal ability and popularity as well as out of regard for his father, one of the best and ablest governors the old Bay State has ever had. If the boy is anything like his father, and he is said to resemble him very much, old Middlesex should be proud to honor him by election to the office he seeks.

EMBARGO ON EXPORTS

It is announced that Congressman Dallinger has introduced a bill prohibiting the export of sugar for six months. Some action of that kind is necessary to save the country from a sugar famine. Under present conditions our domestic supply is inadequate to meet the demands of our own people, much less those of foreign nations. Much of the abundant fruit crop of the present year has been allowed to go to waste on account of the lack of sugar for canning purposes. It is difficult to understand why sugar should be more scarce now than it was during the war and why the price should be much higher.

AMERICANIZATION

The best kind of Americanization would probably be that proposed by Senator Walsh. He would make it compulsory upon aliens to learn the English language and make some move towards becoming citizens within five years or be deported. That would probably bar out the anachronistic tribe that comes here to embark upon a life of ease in the role of revolutionary workers, living upon the hard earned money of the people they are leading astray.

BAN ON HUNTING

It will be a surprise to some of our foreign residents to find that only those who are naturalized or who own real estate taxed for $500 will have the privilege of hunting or fishing in this state. The law is quite rigid and the penalty is 30 days in jail with a fine of $50, either or both. Inasmuch as many foreigners have been in the habit of hunting and fishing quite freely, they will now have to desist, or be subject to arrest and conviction under this new law.

Now that the "Flying Parson," Muynard, has created record history by winning the transcontinental air derby, he announces a desire to try a single stop flight from Minnesota to San Diego, the one rest being at Dallas. He adds that it ought to be just as easy as one of 44 stops, as landing is the most dangerous phase of flying. Quite true, brother, but we should say that the element of luck will play a leading role in the one-stop dash. It will not be a test of wizardry at the control stick half as much as it will be of good luck if he makes it, and "hard luck" if he fails.

It is in order for the republican committees of congress appointed to investigate war expenditures to probe the receipts of any democrats who appeared to make an extraordinary profit. These committees are conducting political fishing parties and if they can cast discredit upon the administration they will do so and they will render a double service to their party if they can discredit a democratic candidate here and there. Thus far the results of their work have been disappointing to themselves.

The printed picture of the proposed auditorium, so beautiful, so symmetrical, so artistic in every feature, gives but a very limited idea of what the structure will be if completed according to present plans. It will certainly be a memorial of which Lowell may be justly proud, one which for architectural beauty and perfect adaptation to the purpose intended will probably not be surpassed by any similar building in New England.

President Faunce of Brown University is authority for the statement that unless the salary of professors be materially increased, the strongest men will inevitably drift out of the teaching profession. In this he is right and the result would be a serious blow to the colleges. Already Harvard and other leading institutions of learning have lost some of their best men.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Yes, it really happened. I wasn't there but I know a man who was. The time was last Saturday night, and the scene was the—well, I guess I'll just say a roadside not many miles from Lowell. Although the law has stopped the selling of liquor—or attempted to—guests were furnishing their own supply in some cases, and the management obligingly furnished the glasses. But the going was tough; only a few stray pints added to the general gaily of the affair, with now and again a quart bottle, betokening the uncanny foresight of its owner. An auto party of eight arrived and brought in from the machine all kinds and brands of fro water; practically every variety of thirst-quenching beverages was represented in the assortment placed on the table before a sea of envious eyes. It was too much for a short fat man who had got outside of some beverage which had given him, to say the least, a slight "jingle." He solemnly rose from his chair and while the onlookers applauded, paced up and down in front of the more fortunate dining party, shouting in a forlorn and dreary monotone: "This barroom is unfair to organized labor—don't patronize this barroom." No, I don't know how he got that way.

Apples are plentiful in this part of the country, but nevertheless the great quantity of the fruit has no effect on the price, for last Saturday on the public market in Anne street apples were marked $5 a barrel. I am informed that the crop is so large that some farmers are unable to pick all their fruit and in many instances apples are being sold on the trees. I have a friend, who a week ago went up Chelmsford street way and purchased two trees at $3 each, and they netted him nine barrels of No. 1 Baldwin apples. Of course he had to do the picking himself and then pay for the transportation, but at that he feels that his winter stock of apples is very cheap, when the prices of the market are to be taken into consideration. Hawkers and peddlers are also buying their apples direct from the farmers and on the trees, and I hear that they are storing them away to await a higher price.

If any Lowell man who served with the United States army during the war feels that he did not get all that was coming to him in the way of clothing that he might keep as a souvenir after he was discharged, he has an opportunity to straighten matters out and get what is coming to him, according to notification received at the local army recruiting station in Merrimack street. The notice says that the following articles of clothing and equipment may be permanently retained by enlisted men upon their being honorably discharged: One overseas cap (for all enlisted men who had service overseas, or one hat and one hat cord for all other enlisted men); one olive drab shirt; one service coat and ornaments; one pair of breeches, one pair of shoes; one pair of leggings; one waist belt; one poncho; one overcoat; two suits of underwear; four pairs of stockings; one pair of gloves, one gas mask and helmet (if issued overseas); one barrack bag and three scarlet chevrons. Men who have not received all these articles may make application for them to the supplies division, office of the director of storage, Washington.

Mr. Alfred Armstrong of 380 Rogers street writes to say that England produced the original war tank and used it to good effect in the last years of the war. Mr. Armstrong had a nephew in the tank service in France during the war and he too tells how the tanks were evolved in England. Mr. Armstrong, speaking of his relatives who served in the war says: "One of my brothers had four sons in the war; one sister had five sons in it; one sister, her only son; one brother, his only son; out of this number only four were killed, and the parents of the others write me saying they have been the luckiest in the entire town of 12,000 population, so heavy were the losses during the great struggle."

SEEN AND HEARD

The city of Bridgeport won't allow any immigrants to occupy homes erected by the housing corporation until they are able to speak English. Compulsory Americanization, as it were.

The news item to the effect that the horses which took part in the 300-mile road test from Fort Ethan Allen to Camp Devens lost between 10 and 70 pounds each should be a hint to the bulky humans who cry in anguish that they can't reduce no matter what they do.

Some fellow professing keen insight into the future says that no doubt our great-great grandchildren will voice loud and vociferous protest at the raising of wages from $36 to $51 a day, and that special grand juries will investigate grocers who

The Work Habit

Habit is an awful thing. Including the work habit. When once it fastens upon its victim it never lets go, not until the undertaker heaves into sight.

J. Henry Harper tells in his "The House of Harper" about the work habit of a horse.

This horse was bought, installed in the cellar where he hauled round and round the beam of a perpendicular shaft connected with the machinery of the press room on the floor above.

For years and years the horse stepped his merry-go-round from 7 a. m. to noon, then an hour for lunch, and at it again until the whistle blew at 5.

Finally the horse's years and the advent of up-to-date machinery drove him out of the cellars. Harper's sent old Dobbin to a farm to spend his old age in peace and idleness.

Peace? Yes. But no idleness for him. For a week or so the horse stuck to the stall erected for him. Then one day he found a tree near the middle of the pasture. That afternoon the farmer saw the horse going round and round the tree. He kept it up until he heard a whistle blow. Then he quit. Next day and the following days the horse went out to that tree every morning, walked around it until noon, rested an hour, and then started work again.

It was a habit with him. He couldn't break it.

A Chicago merchant who had made a fortune in his large downtown department store, sold out. Family and doctors told him he ought to stop work and play a while.

For a year he got along fairly well. Nine-tenths of the time he spent tra-

SEVEN BARKS

It may be possible that you don't know what SEVEN BARKS stands for, so we will enlighten you: It is a safe, remarkable remedy, made from the extracts of seven different kinds of roots and herbs, every one of which has great medicinal value, scientifically blended and for nearly 50 years has been a reliable remedy for indigestion, Constipation, Liver, Kidney and Stomach disorders.

SEVEN BARKS has never been extensively advertised, but has enjoyed a wonderful and steady sale for nearly a half century, and purely upon its merits.

SEVEN BARKS has saved thousands of families doctors' bills, as well as untold suffering. It is inexpensive, only 50 cents per bottle, and the dose is from 10 to 20 drops in a little water after meals.

There is hardly a family but what some member is more or less frequently troubled with indigestion, indigestion, Liver or Kidney trouble. If you have never tried SEVEN BARKS, do not fail to do so, and watch the rapid and wonderful results.

Don't put off asking your druggist for SEVEN BARKS; if he does not happen to have it, he will get it for you.—Adv.

Distant Days

There's something brings it back to me! The quiet, little street, The swaying tops of poplars where we perched our childish feet. The games we played, the sports we had, the comradeship we knew, With all the world a story-book and all the stories true!

The humble little cottages, but even the poorest place, Sat snugly in its plot of green and kept its breathing space. And picket railings on the fence kept all misfortune barred. And morning glories graced the porch and sunflowers decked the yard!

It seemed the sun shone every day, and happiness was sure. And none of use felt poverty, for all of us were poor. And at times the fare was plenty and at times the ration light. But to them both we always brought the same sound appetite.

And why the world was all so fine we had no means of knowing. It was enough to laugh and love and feel the joy of growing. And every day was glorified and every night was starred. With morning glories on the porch and sunflowers in the yard.

Well, in the orchestra of life, the sweetest strings Are those which sing the pleasures of the simplest, humblest things. And so, when I look back today through all the mists of years, I feel a laughter in me trembling on the brink of tears. And today, so far less certain that that dim and distant world Which somehow brings a courage, and which somehow leaves a faith, That heaven will be an ample place and hell will not be hard. With morning stories on the porch and sunflowers in the yard.

HOORAY! BABY MAN BUSTED IN OAKLAND APARTMENT-HOUSE

The Apartment Tenants' Defense Association of Oakland, Cal., has scored its first great victory.

Babies are to be admitted under certain restrictions, to Oakland's largest apartment houses.

The inhuman ban against infant humanity is weakening at last.

Under leadership of local attorneys and club-women, Oaklanders living in apartment houses lately formed an organization to combat the extortionate rent profiteering.

Rents haven't dropped—yet. Legal action is planned by the tenants' union.

As a concession, certain leading

owners of apartment houses have announced the installation of "Baby Row."

"Baby Row" is a segregated district, a special floor or wing, in which persons "unfortunate" enough to own babies will be permitted to live—for a consideration.

"Baby Row" is modelled on the plan of the famous "Sleepy Sixteenth" in a New York apartment house, where night-workers lived, and where nobody was allowed to stir or speak before 11 a. m.

Instead of the "Sleepy Sixteenth," it will be the "Noisy Ninth," the "Squalling Sixth," or the "Echoing Eighth."

So the tenants are partly mollified. But they still plan to go after profiteering.

AT DARTMOUTH COLLEGE

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 20.—Students and alumni at Dartmouth college gathered in a large tent on the campus today to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the college heard Justice Wendell P. Stafford of the supreme court of the District of Columbia deliver the college spirit as "a bold and hard determination to cultivate and discipline our powers with the aid of all that men have learned before us, and then to pour the whole stream of our power into the noble tasks of our own time."

Justice Stafford spoke on "The college, a training school for public service." After eulogizing Daniel Webster and other great sons of Dartmouth, he continued:

"We now stand face to face with a new riddle of the spirit. The question it propounds is one that we must answer if free government is to survive. That question is how are the masses of men and women who labor with their hands to be secured out of the products of their toil what they will feel to be, and will be in fact, a fair return? Until we can answer that question, we shall have no peace, and if we fail to answer it, we shall have revolution."

"The question is not one that faces America alone, it faces Britain, it faces Italy; it has torn Russia in pieces. Let us hope that our own country may be the one to find the true solution of the riddle, and thereby bring safety and freedom to the people of all lands. Our safety can only be found in a policy that treats all men as brothers, all equally entitled to the fruits of

The Bastinado was a form of punishment at one time common among the Turks and Chinese. It consisted in beating the offender on the soles of his feet with a light stick, or lath of bamboo.

"The terror of the punishment was not in the severity of the blows but in its long continuation."

You, too, receive blows that exhaust you—every day of your life

EVERY day that you pound nail-studded leather heels on hard, unyielding pavements, you are inflicting upon yourself punishment like that of the Bastinado.

The average man takes 8,000 steps a day. If you wear old-fashioned leather heels, studded with nails, you give your nervous system 8,000 jolts and jars. The constant repetition of these shocks exhausts your energy just as the Bastinado sapped the strength of its victims. Chronic over-fatigue, with its ever-present threat of serious illness, often results.

You can protect yourself from the dangers of over-fatigue. You can remove one of the commonest causes of fatigue. Replace your hard, unyielding heels with O'Sullivan's Heels of live, resilient rubber. O'Sullivan's Heels absorb the shocks that tire you out. They relieve the jolts and jars that make a burden of walking.

What gives a rubber heel "life"?

It is not just the rubber that gives O'Sullivan's Heels their springiness and wearing qualities.

Rubber, as you know, can be made

hard and brittle as in fountain pens, or soft and crumbly as in pencil erasers. To secure the resiliency and durability of O'Sullivan's Heels, the highest grades of rubber are "compounded" with the best toughening agents known.

The "compound" is then "cured" or baked under high pressure.

By this special process the greatest resiliency is combined with the utmost durability.

their labor, all equally entitled to raise themselves as high as possible, each in his own place, without doing wrong to any of the rest. It is the spirit of justice and fraternity that must be our guide. And where are we to look for leadership if not in institutions such as this?"

"It sometimes seems to me," he said, "that the ways in which things shall be done loom so important in the minds of all of us that there can be only with the greatest difficulty, any commensurate interest in what the achievement shall be. I am quite clear in my conviction that the first obligation of the college is as markedly as possible to level up the mass of the selected group which it accepts, by which a small medium of ultra-excellence shall be produced at the cost of vital effort and wasted time for the great majority.

"The function of the college is not primarily to develop intellectualism but intelligent men and this purpose is not observed if only consideration is given to the mind and the soul and the body are left to the whims of chance. While accepting the magnitude of its obligation to develop mentality of strength and accuracy, the college must, as essential corollaries of this, safeguard the physical and moral standards of collective living and offer individual inspiration for the development of spiritual excellence."

President Hopkins alluded to "the great delusion which has pervaded the college world, to its loss, that a record of research of sufficient profundity more than compensated either for incomplete manhood or for incapacity or indisposition to recognize the real purpose of the American college" and he added:

"I believe that the time has come when we should free ourselves from the cant and sophistries that still pervade college circles at such points as these. We should at least be as watchfully solicitous to avoid the evils of professionalization in our college instruction as we are in our college athletics."

MORE ARGUMENT THAN BUSINESS

Differences in opinion regarding legislative procedure on the part of Lowell delegates to the state legion convention in Worcester gave rise to oratorical outbursts at the meeting of Lowell Post 52 at the Community Service Club in Boston street last night. Discussion grew into argument, which might have continued indefinitely and taken the entire body on a trip around Robin Hood's barn had not Commander Walter Scannell thumped down the gavel with sufficient emphasis to bring order out of growing chaos.

Ostensibly the meeting was held for the purpose of hearing the report of the local delegates to the convention and ultimately this was given in business-like style by Delegate John Walsh. His report covered many details of interest and thoroughly outlined the work of the Lowell delegation. The post accepted it unanimously.

Routine business conducted included the resignation of the membership committee and a subsequent vote of thanks from the post for the earnest work accomplished during the drive for new members. The body also voted to send a congratulatory message to Senator Watson of Indiana, endorsing his stand in denouncing some members of the government commissions as reds and radicals.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR WHY IT INCREASES

Hair growth is stimulated and its frequent removal is necessary when it is removed from the surface of the skin. The only logical and practical way to remove hair is to attack it under the skin. Four Killed in L Train Crash

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Four persons were killed and several injured when a north bound Third Avenue elevated train crashed into the rear end of a second train stalled between 175th and 176th streets, early today. Slippery rails, due to a light rain, were said to have made the emergency brakes of little avail in bringing the moving train to a sudden stop.

Shortage of Homes Pinches Millions Of Families With No Relief In View

UNCLE SAM'S BARGAINS IN HOMES

The government built 6000 houses like these for war workers and is selling them out. Houses at Rock Island, Ill., are being sold at the rate of 50 a day. When the sales were started all the houses were rented, except at Erie, Pa., and Bridgeport, Conn., where only 50 per cent. were occupied.

Tenants are given the first option to buy. The houses are located at Aberdeen, Md., Alliance, O., Bath, Me., Brentwood, Wash., Bridgeport, Conn., Charlestown, W. Va., Craddock, Va., Davenport, Ia., Erie, Pa., Hammond, Ind., Indian Head, Md., New Brunswick, N. J., New London, Conn., Newport, R. I., Niagara Falls, N. Y., Niles, O., Philadelphia, Pa., Quincy, Mass., Rockland, N. H., Truckee, Cal., Watertown, Conn., Watertown, N. Y., and Washington, D. C. The houses are bringing from $3500 to $4000 each, and are being sold on the installment plan, 10 per cent. down and 1 per cent. a month. On this basis it is estimated about $75,000,000 of the $100,000,000 expended by the United States housing corporation during the war will be put back in the treasury.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—There are five million more families in the United States than there is living room for, according to figures.

As a matter of fact, the five million families are jammed in with the rest of the hundred million or more and many, many millions are at the mercy of landlords.

And landlords are living up to their ancient reputation in the majority of cases.

They hardly can be called merciful. The natural cause of the shortage of homes is the growth in population, and the increase in the number of families, without a corresponding increase in the number of houses.

In 1910 there were 20,225,555 homes in the United States and in 1905 numbers about 24,400,000 families occupying them.

The 10 years previous to 1910 the number of homes had to increase 25 per cent. to keep up with the increase in the number of families. This would mean that the increase since 1910 would have to be in round numbers 5,000,000 more homes.

But the war stopped building for two years of the decade, thus preventing construction of 1,000,000 of the homes. In round numbers, the 5,000,000 families

FRANKLIN, N. H., Oct. 21.—Ragged mountain and other hills in this section were snow-capped yesterday morning for the first time this season.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

B. F. KEITH'S THEATRE
Fall festival week, which is being observed at B. F. Keith's theatre this week, brought forth an abundance of the best of top-notch vaudeville features at its opening performances yesterday afternoon and evening. The theatre, within and without, is appropriately decorated with tokens of the harvest season and the spirit of plenty which tradition has as a feature of this season of the year, is comprehensively reflected in the varied and attractive offerings which Manager Pickett has prepared for his patrons.

Leading off strongly is the Quixote quartet, a male quartet consisting Messrs. Miller, Owens, Fosdick and Stokes. "The boys with the pep" is the way the program tersely describes their "pep" in their singing. They are many admirable qualifications. They're one of the most capable singing quartets seen here for many a month. In their white uniforms they present an attractive picture and the boys themselves are clean-cut and youthful.

There's nothing startling about their songs as songs. Most of their songs have been heard many a time before. But their knack of winding their voices around the notes and drawing forth the best possible expression from every note, won them their high praise last evening. They start off by singing a quartet and then they break away and sing as soloists. "That Old Sweetheart of Mine" by the tenor was particularly appealing and the finale, "I've Got the Alcoholic Blues," was put on in exceedingly funny fashion. The boys stum their banjos toward the latter part of the offering and this, too, was most acceptable.

The name, Hektnald, usually denotes something bad, a hard hitting boxer. "Hektnald" uses his puns, grimaces, pictures of a precise young thing with a dotting parent to keep him from having the "Hektnald" in the comedy offering, "Hektnald," written by Will M. Cressy and being presented this week by Arthur Havel & Co., has no

WOMAN SICK TWO YEARS
TELLS HOW SHE GOT WELL
Miss G. J. Baird, of 30 Glenville ave., Allston, Mass., writes that she has been sick almost two years, had no relief, was growing thin every day, went from 135 to 111. I was so discouraged, I didn't know what to do. One night about three weeks ago, I picked up a paper and saw your Dr. True's Ellixir. I bought a bottle and the next day bought a small bottle and took it. The next day I felt better. I looked as though I was just the skin and bones. The day before I took Dr. True's Ellixir I thought I might go wild with the crawling in my stomach. I feel like a new person, all my friends say I look so much better. I wouldn't have believed anyone could feel so much better in so short a time. I can't give your medicine praise enough.

Signs of worms: Offensive breath, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, dizziness, pains about the navel, pale face, itching of the eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the nose, itching of the rectum, short, dry cough, grinding of the teeth, red points on the tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever. Dr. True's Ellixir, the Family Laxative and Worm Expeller, is sold by ALL DEALERS.—Adv.

Sam Rogers, director of census, says the house shortage is also augmented by the fact that many people moved from the rural district to cities to engage in industry.

"In 1912 America was spending $350,000,000 annually for housing," said R. A. Cullock, custodian of the salvage property of the United States Housing Corporation. "The shortage dates from that year. The nation should be spending $500,000,000 a year now for houses to keep pace with the needs, and to make up for the shortage it would cost a billion a year."

"But our records show that in 1912 only $25,000,000 worth of houses were built. That was when builders had to get a permit from us to build and obtain sanction from the war industries board for material. This choked building down to nothing during a year in which a half billion should have been spent to give the people places to live."

Problem the Same in Other Countries
Architects from Canada and England say similar conditions exist in their countries.

"The house shortage is getting worse instead of better," declared E. C. Kemper, executive secretary of the American Institute of Architects here. "We are not keeping up with the normal demand, to say nothing of making up for lost time. Many architects the precise appearance and dotted parent, but he has also the added qualification of a healthy punch packed away in his right fist.

The ability to punch proves very handy to Reginald when his mother introduces him to a youngster of his own age who has been imported to teach the first principles of companioning. Tommy Tucker is the import of one's name and he prides himself on being a "regular feller." One look at Reginald fills him with glee as he thinks of the wallowing that he will give the pampered youth. However, there's a different story unfolded when the drooping Reginald gets on the clothes and lets swing a lightning punch that lands Tommy on the floor. A good playlet, well acted and possessing plenty of action is this affair of Cressy's.

James Mullen and Anna Francis in "I Got What's Left," present a rapid-fire repartee attraction. Mullen is a stout fellow who insists on adopting English mannerisms. He sings, talks and dances unceasingly and his patter is brand new. Miss Francis is a capable foil.

Walter Clinton and Julia Rooney, latter a sister of the famous Pat Rooney, present "After Dark," a novel and fast moving singing and talking affair. Miss Rooney is as lively as her brother and gives an excellent imitation of one of his grotesque dances. Clinton is on his toes every minute and the two unwind a lot of laugh producers.

Martin & Fabbrini in "A Flight of Fancy" have an unusually novel dancing act. When the curtain goes up a dimly lighted scene shows what appears to be a male quartet, consisting Messrs. Miller, Owens, Fosdick and Stokes. "The boys with the pep" is the way the program tersely describes their "pep" in their singing. They are many admirable qualifications. They're one of the most capable singing quartets seen here for many a month. In their white uniforms they present an attractive picture and the boys themselves are clean-cut and youthful.

MINNIE—The great secret of looking fair and young is in the development of the vigor of hair roots. Mere stimulation of the scalp is not enough. It is the lack of realization of this fact which is the cause of so much failure in the treatment of the hair. The hair roots may be developed to a very remarkable degree by using the proper method. As a root-developer nothing can equal the use of beta quinine. This can be secured at any drug store for 50 cents, in one-ounce packages. When mixed with a half pint of bay rum and a half pint of water the developer is ready to use. It is not oily and when used liberally gives all the results which anyone could wish. By developing the roots the hair grows and it becomes thick, lustrous and silky, bald spots fill out, and instead of shrinking, sick hairs which fall out readily on combing, we have strong hair held firmly in the scalp, thus putting an end to hair falling.

MRS. A. T. F.—The skin can be brought back to its original plumpness and vigor by the following formula. An astonishing result is the quick disappearance of wrinkles, little and big, crows feet, and lines of age. It is so simple and can be prepared in a few moments by adding to half a pint of water one tablespoonful of glycerine and two ounces of epitol, obtained from your druggist for 50 cents. This takes years from your appearance, and is always sure and positive in its work if you will apply it liberally, every day.

MAY B. T.—As to head-wash, I advise against using soap or the many shampoos sold, because of the alkali they contain. They dry up the hair and excoriate the scalp. Get eggol at the drug store and dissolve a teaspoonful of it in half a cup of water. You can get enough eggol for 50 cents for a dozen or more head-washes. It is magic in cleansing hair and scalp, and aids wonderfully in making hair grow.—Adv.

Others who are appearing in this week's production are Jack Bennett, Hal Crane, William Melville, Miss Priscilla Knowles, Miss Helen Freshburn, Martin & Fabbrini, Miss Butler, Miss Helen Scott and Director J. Francis Kirk.

THE OWL THEATRE

Some will doubt that human beings could be so dreadfully brutal, but from what we have heard of the Turkish persecution of Christians, there is no reason to doubt that the entire story of Turkish atrocities in Armenia here presented is overdrawn. Nevertheless, there are many who will feel overcome by horror at seeing the agonies of the dying, the stabbing of women and children, the wholesale shooting in which parents and children are torn apart, women and children are torn by thousands together and the men in separate bodies, all to be deported.

Young girls are torn from the others for the harem or are carried off by drunken soldiers, while at certain points they have the choice of accepting Islamism instead of Christ or being crucified. A long line of crosses was shown, each bearing a crucified girl. Then the auction of young girls is shown, and sold at the highest bidder. Some features of the presentation are so shocking that people of every temperament will be shocked by witnessing the realism of the pictures showing the more agonizing scenes of Turkish brutality.

The question is asked can all this be true? Oh yes, it would be difficult to imagine anything worse than the Turks have been guilty of in Armenia.

Little Aurora Mardiganian, an Armenian girl who is a central figure in the various scenes asserts that the picture story is true.

She comes out before the audience and in an address in rather broken English tells the story of suffering Armenia and appeals to American sympathy for Armenia. We do not suppose that Armenia gets a fair share of the proceeds from this performance, but the show is certainly calculated to win deep sympathy for Miss Mardiganian and her unhappy country.

She preaches her devotion to Christianity which teaches forgiveness, but she insists that even divine justice would demand that the guilty Turks be killed and she says that Armenia has an army which will do the fighting and kill the Turks if backed by this great country, the United States.

The young girl's appeal went straight to the hearts of the audience and in the various scenes asserts that the picture story is true.

Brat" at the Strand theatre to realize that this pictureization of Maude Fulton's stage play is the greatest success yet attained by this splendid Russian artist. Capacity houses filled it yesterday and will continue to do so as long as it remains in the city.

To those not familiar with the story as told by the play and faithfully followed by the picture, it may be said that it tells the story of a homeless child of charity, who drifts into the chorus of a musical show, is lured into a "framed" and finally lands in a metropolitan night court. It is there, however, that the wheel commences turning in another direction, and her sterling qualities of character are spun out as she enters the home of MacMillan Forester, author, who sees in her bedraggled appearance the ideal "type" of a heroine he has sought for a new novel.

As the story runs, the author's brother is the man who insulted "the Brat" and caused her arrest, and later characterizes her in his home. It is weak character, but she gives ample proof of the girl's intersting and the narrative ends most happily and quite unexpectedly.

Throughout the picture Nazimova's acting portrays the true artist, and she easily adapts herself to all conditions of society. Humor is not forgotten and she ably holds the plot to the surface through quaint slang phrases and bits of immature philosophy.

The "Grey Tower Mystery" with Gladys Leslie in the leading role, shows the successful fight of an innocent girl to free herself from the meshes of circumstantial evidence after being arrested and accused of murder. It is a picture of deep plot and startling disclosures and has an element of suspense which sustains interest to the very end.

The picture shows the fascinating Miss Leslie to appear in a somewhat different character part than in her usual production and gives ample proof of her versatility and ability to faithfully portray without the spoken word, the Universal Weekly, showing a series of interesting current events, all out a most acceptable program. The week's solist is Harry Pearson.

REDS CONTINUE TO FALL BACK

Gen. Yudenitch's Forces Capture Pulkova and Ligova—Other Gains

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Forces of the Russian soviet government are being slowly driven back to their last defenses in front of Petrograd. General Yudenitch has captured Pulkova, about seven miles south of the city and Ligova, less than eight miles to the southwest, according to unofficial reports.

Bolshevik troops are apparently formed along the Petrograd-Luga-Pskov railroad, where they are stubbornly contesting each attempt of the Yudenitch forces to drive eastward. The anti-Bolshevik reached a point near Luga last week, but since that time there has been no indication that the railroad has been crossed at any point south of Gatchina, which is admitted to be in the hands of the Yudenitch army.

Soviet forces seem still to be holding the coastal region west of Petrograd. Helsingfors despatches telling of a duel between an anti-Bolshevik fleet and the fort at Krasnaya Gorka. A great fire, accompanied by an explosion was observed after the battle, but it is said it may have been at Granienbaum, a village about 12 miles east of Krasnaya Gorka.

Kiev, which was occupied by Bolshevik troops last week has been attacked by Gen. Denikin's Cossacks, who have forced the reds out of most of the city. Fighting was still going on there last Friday.

Nearer the city of Gen. Denikin's line, the soviet armies have essayed a counter offensive, launching an attack at Kronu, 17 miles southwest of Orel. This attack was completely defeated, according to an official report.

Southeast of Orel, the Bolsheviks have suffered a disastrous defeat, an official report says. This battle took place west of the Khoper river, the most important tributary of the Don. It is said that volunteer troops of the Denikin army are following up their advantage in this region.

Kolchak troops on the Siberian front are said to have met with a reverse, losing quite heavily in fighting near Kurgan. This report, it confirmed, would seem to throw some doubt on recent reports that the Bolsheviks are rapidly retreating on the eastern front. As late as Oct. 9, Kurgan was in the hands of the Bolsheviks.

Explosions in Petrograd
COPENHAGEN, Oct. 21.—Fremendous explosions were being heard from Petrograd by the attacking army Sunday night, according to a special telegram to the Berlingske Tidende from Rerval.

Red Flag Visible
LONDON, Oct. 21.—The fortress of Kronstadt was still in the hands of the Bolsheviks on Sunday, according to a despatch to the Daily Mail from Terijoki, Finland, from which place the red flag was then visible at the masthead of the battleship Petropavlovsk, which is reported to have been raised since she was torpedoed by the British in August, and is now lying in the Kronstadt harbor. The reported raising of the white flag at Kronstadt on Friday is as yet unexplained.

It is generally assumed here that Petrograd is isolated and its fall is a matter of a short time, but the position is obscure with the exception of official statements that the railroad to Moscow has been cut and that besiegers are within a few miles of the city.

There are no details of actual operations, nor any reliable news as to what force the Reds are able to put in the field to oppose the army commanded by General Yudenitch. A Helsingfors despatch received yesterday says General Yudenitch and staff are at Gatchina, which apparently confirms the British war office assumption that that place is firmly in the hands of the anti-Bolsheviks.

Reds Are Dispersed

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 21.—The Bolshevik forces concentrated at Gdoff, on Lake Pelpus, which constituted a most serious threat to the rear of General Yudenitch, have been dispersed. This removes the menace of an advance against the communications of the anti-Bolshevik forces now before Petrograd, which War Minister Trotsky was reported to have declared recently would decide the fate of the city rather than the defense of the old capital itself.

Flee From Petrograd

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 21.—Commissary Zinoviev, the chief Bolshevik government representative in Petrograd, has withdrawn from that city, taking with him all men able to bear arms, according to reports to the German press. The official documents and cash, it is declared, have been taken to Moscow.

Orel Retaken by Reds

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Orel has been retaken by the Bolsheviks, who also have defeated 18 regiments of General Maiconoff's army outside of Voronezh, according to a wireless despatch sent out by the soviet government in Moscow.

Strong Red Resistance

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 21.—General Yudenitch has encountered strong Bolshevik resistance beyond Pulkova, about seven miles south of Petrograd. He has therefore halted his advance to concentrate his forces while awaiting reinforcements and heavy artillery. One hundred guns reached his army today.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Harold W. Lake and Miss Mary Pipes, both of this city, were married last evening at the residence of Rev. A. G. Warner, assistant pastor of the First Baptist church, at 142 Shaw street. The attendants were Mr. Frank Chapman of Amherst, N. S., and Miss Bernice Mercer of Lowell.

The bride was attired in a gown of white georgette crepe and carried a bouquet of white bridal roses. The bridesmaid wore pink georgette and carried a bouquet of pinks. After a brief reception the couple left Lowell on a wedding trip. They will make their home in this city.

McKone-Sorenson

Mr. James McKone of Lowell and Miss Mary J. Sorenson of Dracut were married yesterday afternoon at the rectory of St. Michael's church, by the pastor, Rev. John J. Shaw.

The bride was becomingly gowned in brown panne velvet with picture hat to match and carried white bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Mary Sullivan, who wore brown taupe velvet with picture hat to match and carried pink roses. The best man was Mr. Peter McKone, a brother of the bridegroom. The bride's gift to her bridesmaid was a pink sapphire ring and the best man received from the bridegroom a gold canoe stick pin.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride in Riverside street and a wedding dinner was served by Caterer Lydon at which were present only the immediate families and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. McKone, who received many useful and costly gifts, left early in the evening on a wedding trip which will include visits to New York, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C. Upon their return they will reside in Lowell and will be at home to their friends after December 1.

Both are previous service men, Flynn having served in the 11th Engineers and Fascione in the 25th Coast Artillery Corps.

District Deputy John P. Farley of the Massachusetts Northeast council of Elks will preside at the installation of officers off the Everett lodge in the latter city this evening. This will be Mr. Farley's first official function in his new capacity and it is expected that a large number of members of the local lodge will accompany him.

PRaises CONDUCT OF TROOPS AT GARY, IND.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Leaders in the steel strike are so "well pleased with the conduct" of federal troops at Gary, Ind., that the government has been asked to send soldiers into the Pittsburgh strike district, John Fitzpatrick, chairman of the strikers' committee said today. Mr. Fitzpatrick came here to discuss the strike with Samuel Gompers, and other members of the labor group in the national industrial conference.

Mr. Fitzpatrick said the troops at Gary had guaranteed the constitutional rights of free speech and assembly and thus had relieved the "tension" there. In this connection, he denounced the "brutality" of the Pennsylvania state constabulary.

Mr. Fitzpatrick charged that publically agents of the steel corporation had "manufactured" the "red" propaganda found in Gary for the purpose of bringing suspicion upon the strikers.

SPARKS' FRIENDS HOLD MEETING

A most enthusiastic meeting in the interest of the candidacy of Hon. John Sparks for senator in the eighth district was held last evening in Elks hall. Both democrats and republicans were present, embracing men from all walks of life, and the affair crystallized into a forceful endorsement of the Dracut man.

Former Representative John W. Brennan, town clerk of Dracut, presided and in opening the meeting said that the time for action was rapidly approaching. He pleaded for the largest possible representation of voters at the polls.

Daniel Gray, secretary of the Sparks campaign committee, read the records of the last meeting and several subcommittees were also heard from.

Former Alderman James J. Gallagher made a telling plea in behalf of Mr. Sparks and said that three years ago he was defeated by only 631 votes throughout the district. He believed that this figure could be erased this year if the proper effort were made.

Charles Flannery, one of the younger hustlers of the committee, gave some sound advice about getting out the vote and asked that systematic efforts be made to get every man to the polls. On the suggestion of Chas. A. Burns rallying committees were appointed for each precinct and a systematic plan of campaign will be mapped out.

When Mr. Sparks was called upon he was given an ovation and responded by delivering an able address. He told of his previous experience in the legislature and said that his record was open for inspection. He thanked his listeners for their manifestation of interest in his candidacy and expressed confidence in his success.

Other speakers included Representative Thomas J. Corbett, former Alderman Joseph Jodoin, Marcel Chevert, C. A. Desrosiers, Charles Cordeau, John A. Cotter, John H. Douglass, Charles H. Burns and Walter E. Guyette.

Massachusetts needs at this time a Governor who has the confidence of the workingman, and also the business experience to meet the unusual conditions that follow the end of a great war.

LONG

Meets These Requirements

Take off the party label and nearly every voter would choose Long before Coolidge.

Long's friends wonder why he leaves his business interests for public life. He replies that the opportunities for public work are better worth while than private gain. Because of his early employment as a shoemaker, and his knowledge of human nature, he has had cordial relations with his employees, and places the rights of the man before the rights of property. He was the first shoe manufacturer to establish an eight-hour work day. He is a successful business man and keen student of public affairs. His victory over monopoly in shoe machinery, in 1906 and 1907, showed his ability to fight and win against great odds. His campaign last year, both at the Primary and Election, surprised his friends and opponents. His primary victory this year was even more successful. He has waged a most aggressive campaign and driven his opponents to confusion and distress, and his election is assured. The same enterprise and business-like management of the state will bring harmony and contentment to our citizens, and prosperity to our Commonwealth. Voters should forget the party label and unite for the man Massachusetts needs.

Looked as White As a Sheet Until She Found Remedy

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Brought Back Color to Cheeks and Lips Says Massachusetts Woman

"I was so pale that I was as white as a sheet," says Mrs. Belva L. Holland, of No. 21 Holmes avenue, Worcester, Mass. "I had become all run down, was subject to headaches and was irritable and nervous. I could not get a good night's sleep, was tired all the time and had but little ambition. Through the recommendation of my aunt who had used them with benefit, I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills after other treatments had failed."

"While I was taking the second box I noticed a decided improvement. The headaches stopped and I slept better. Then the color came back to my cheeks and lips. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a fine tonic and I have no hesitation in recommending them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, postpaid, on receipt of price. Write for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."—Adv.

MISS COSGROVE HONORED

Miss Rose Cosgrove, who is soon to become the bride of John Reardon, was honored by a number of young women of the balling and warp room of the Massachusetts mills last Friday evening, when she was given a shower at the home of Mrs. Mary Bowen, 93 Bartlett street. The bride-to-be was given a beautiful dinner net, pieces of cut glass, silver and linen. Following an enjoyable musical entertainment, a buffet-luncheon was served by Mrs. Bowen, assisted by Miss Mary Bowen, Miss Connell and Miss Reardon.

SEPARATE MAINTENANCE

A petition for separate maintenance was brought in the probate court for contested cases this morning at the court house by Mrs. Thomas H. Carpenter against her husband, both of this city. The plaintiff was represented by Daniel J. Donahue, while Henry V. Charbonneau appeared for defendant. The plaintiff alleges cruelty and desertion as the causes for the petition. A half-dozen witnesses were examined by the opposing lawyers.

and maintain poles in Cambridge street.

The two commissioners reported unfavorably on the petition of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. for permission to locate a pole at 165-167 Pleasant street and leave to withdraw was given.

An order introduced by Commissioner Murphy granting Harry E. Mousette permission to erect a revolving barber pole in front of the premises at 102 Middlesex street, was adopted.

Commissioner Murphy reported favorably on the petitions of A. Estelle Rundlett that Bennett street be laid out and accepted and F. H. Parker that sidewalks be laid on both sides of the street, but the report was ordered to remain in the city clerk's office seven days.

Commissioners Murphy and Marchand reported favorably on the petition of New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. for permission to erect two poles in Cross street and the order was adopted.

A vote was passed authorizing Mayor Thompson to adjust with several insurance companies the damage caused by recent fires at the Chelmsford Street hospital and the Bartlett school.

Commissioner Murphy's favorable report on the petition of Charles F.

Witham that Fairgrove avenue be laid out and accepted and sidewalks laid out and accepted to remain in the city clerk's office seven days.

A petition signed by Margaret Holt and James H. O'Neil and 12 other residents of Wilder street or the neighborhood asked that a hearing given them relative to the closing Wilder street last August without the knowledge or consent. One of the petitioners was present and Commissioner Murphy suggested that the matter be taken up by the street department office, rather than by the council. This was agreeable and Commissioner Donnelly moved that the petition be referred to Commissioner Murphy with the understanding that he shall later report to the council.

A $10,000 bond, executed in behalf of Charles C. Wilson by the Massachusetts Bonding & Insurance Co. A approved by the city solicitor was accepted by the council.

NEW AUTOCRACYUnder Present Leadership it is Tending Toward Bolshevism, Says SenatorFrelinghuysen of New Jersey Says Time to Crush Move for Class RuleWASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Unionism under its present leadership was attacked in the senate today by Senator Frelinghuysen, republican, New Jersey, as a "new autocracy" tending toward bolshevism.Criticizing the demands of the bituminous coal miners for a five-day week and increased wages, Senator Frelinghuysen, who is chairman of the senate committee investigating the coal strike, called upon American public opinion to scotch a movement which he feared would result in class government.The New Jersey senator said the demand of the miners, half of them aliens, were "inordinate" and could not be granted as they would result in decreased production and an increase in price to the consumers of from $2 to $2.50 a ton."Is the United States ready to be dictated to by these men?" he asked.
"The time has come to put an end to this 'new autocracy,'" said the senator. "Unless this intolerable condition can be rectified; unless some means can be found to prevent imposition of such unthinkable demands and penalties; unless collective bargaining can be continued in an orderly manner and with due regard to the public welfare and comfort, a new remedy must be applied—the remedy of making labor amenable to the same extent as capital to the laws of the United States."

Anarchy Threatened

Referring to the steel strike, the New York longshoremen's strike, the Boston police strike, the New York pressmen's strike and other labor disturbances, Senator Frelinghuysen said:
"Where will this striking frenzy stop? Unless a halt is called we shall reach a state of anarchy infinitely worse than the autocracy of Germany.
This is class government and not democracy.""There is a determined movement throughout the land to assume control of all government functions in behalf of a class," continued Senator Fre-linghuysen. "We have come to a parting of the ways. This country is not ready to be dictated to by a horde of aliens. Any citizen who seeks to advance the interest of himself and his associates at the expense of the general public is not a patriotic citizen.
Socialism means class rule. We cannot permit that in America and still preserve our democratic institutions.""Labor unionism should be upheld for one primary principle, to obtain and maintain justice for the man who earns his bread by the sweat of his brow; but when the power of organization is employed to impose injustice against all other classes of society, the law of the land should be invoked to prevent the abuse of such power, or laws enacted that will do this.""When labor defies the law through the power of its union, it is sounding its own death knell and digging its own grave.""There are thousands of law-abiding citizens members of these unions, who do not desire to strike. The terrorism spread by the radicals and lawless in these unions creates fear for the safety of their homes, their wives and their children."

LABOR HAS RISEN TO A HIGH DEGREE, but if, through improper influence and disloyal leadership the labor group attempts to place its fetters upon an unoffending public, it must be dealt with accordingly."GETS REPORTS OF

THREATENED STRIKE IS NO SUGAR SHORTAGEBoston Detective Sharply Cross-Examined by Defense TodayMONTPELIER, Vt., Oct. 21.—Detective James R. Wood of Boston, who figured in the investigation which led to the arrest of George A. Long on the charge of murdering Mrs. Lucina C. Broadwell in Barre last May, was sharply cross examined by the defense in Washington county court today, but he remained unshaken in his testimony regarding two statements made by Long, the first of which denied acquaintance with Mrs.
Broadwell and the second of which admitted not only acquaintance but intimate relations with her at the home of Mrs. Isabel Parker, who is indicted on the charge of murder.The latter of the statements was made at a hotel where the inquiry was held and where a box containing Mrs. Broadwell's clothing was brought. Detective Wood and Deputy Sheriff Lawson declared that the box of clothing was placed on the bed and that while Long was leaning against the bed Deputy Sheriff Lawson suddenly cried out: "Look out, George, you'll get your hands covered with blood," and Long said: "There is not a drop of blood on those clothes," before he had examined the clothes.The defense tried to show today that Long had read the papers which stated that there was no blood on the clothing.Referring to the interrogation of Long at the hotel, Attorney Carver quit Long at once?""Perhaps one would ask a question and then another, but not all at once,"

HAVE YOU SCROFULA?

Now Said to Be as Often Acquired as Inherited.It is generally and chiefly indicated by eruptions and sores, but in many cases it enlarges the glands of the neck, affects the internal organs, especially the lungs, and if neglected may develop into consumption.It causes many troubles, and is aggravated by impure air, unwholesome food, bad water, too much heat or cold, and want of proper exercise.

MISS O'REILLY TELLS STORY OF FLIGHT

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Miss Elizabeth Boyle O'Reilly, who was committed to Bellevue hospital by Magistrate Corrigan last Thursday for observation on a motion by her sister, Mary Boyle O'Reilly, who asserts that she is insane, testified in her own behalf yesterday at the hearing before Supreme Court Justice Wagner in chambers on the writ of habeas corpus which she obtained a few hours after her commitment.

Under questioning by her attorney, Benjamin F. Foster, Miss O'Reilly, who is a daughter of the late John Boyle O'Reilly, told of her early life and her experience in France with the American ambulance service with which she served during the war. Her memory of dates and events was unerring and her answers impressed all those present.

She also told how she had escaped from the asylum near Boston, where she had been sent by her sister soon after her return from France in April, 1915, but she refused to give the hour of her flight because, she said, it would reveal the identity of the person within the sanitarium who helped her.

She said that the reason her mother left her estate to her was that she considered her the head of the family. She said it was largely through her influence that her married sister, Mrs. Agnes Hocking, whose husband is an instructor in metaphysics at Harvard university, obtained a share of the income from her mother's estate. It was at the home of Mrs. Hocking in Boston, she testified, that she was handcuffed by two doctors and taken to the sanitarium on April 20, 1915.

MISS MARY CLARK IN SONG RECITAL

The Middlesex Women's club heard Miss Mary Clark, pupil of Sambrich and Enrico Caruso, in a recital of operatic and simpler songs in Colonial hall yesterday afternoon. Naturally, it was Miss Clark's first appearance before a Lowell audience, for she is quite young and at present is in the midst of her first concert tour. Her program was one which an older singer might well have side-stepped, inasmuch as it demanded a great deal of hard work, but Miss Clark managed it with genuine success and to the pleasure of her listeners.

Her voice showed qualities, which, when fully developed, will win her wide admiration in the operatic world. It is flexible to a marked degree and travels through a wide range. Her singing of four familiar arias was a task in itself, but an admirable physique gave full evidence of her ability to withstand the tiring effects of an opera program. She is not without dramatic ability, as another asset, and showed excellent interpretative genius in several encore selections. The program follows:

Romeo and Juliet.....Gounod
Waltz Song.....Tosti
Caro Ideal.....Gounod
Rigoletto.....Verdi
Caro Nome.....Verdi
Passing By.....Old English
L'Espresso.....Verdi
Ah, Forza e La.....Verdi
La Boheme.....Puccini

ITALIAN AMBASSADOR DIES AT WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Count V. Macchi di Celere, Italian ambassador to the United States since 1913, died in the Emergency hospital here last night as he was about to undergo an operation. He had been ill since Saturday.

The ambassador was removed from the embassy to the hospital last night after his physician had decided that only an operation would save his life. He reached the hospital at 9 o'clock and while on the operating table before the operation was started his death occurred at 9:40 o'clock. His death was pronounced as mesenteric thrombosis. Several members of the embassy staff were at the hospital when his death occurred. The ambassador was 53 years old.

Battleship to Convey Body
WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Diplomatic and official Washington today mourned the death of Count V. Macchi di Celere, Italian ambassador to the United States for the past six years. The ambassador's death occurred late last night as he was about to undergo an operation at a hospital here.

The illness of Count di Celere dated from last Saturday, but not until yesterday was his condition considered serious. He then was hurried to a hospital, his physician hoping that an operation might save his life, but death came before the operation could be performed. His death was ascribed to mesenteric thrombosis—formation of a blood clot in the tissues of the mesentery.

Following diplomatic custom, the United States will assign a battleship to convey the body to Italy.

For real effectiveness, this old home-made remedy has no equal. Easily and cheaply prepared.

You'll never know how quickly a bad cough can be conquered, until you try this famous old home-made remedy. Anyone who has coughed all day and all night, will say that the immediate relief given is almost like magic. It takes but a moment to prepare, and there is nothing better for coughs.

Into a pint bottle, put 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, the full pint saves about two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, and gives you a more positive, effective remedy. It keeps perfectly, and tastes pleasant—children like it.

You can feel this take hold instantly, soothing and healing the membranes in all the air passages. It promptly loosens a dry, tight cough, and soon you will notice the phlegm thin out and then disappear altogether. A day's use will usually break up an ordinary throat or chest cold, and it is also splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness, and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, the most reliable remedy for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for 2½ ounces of Pinex with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

$250,000,000 LOAN TO GREAT BRITAIN

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—J. P. Morgan & Co. announced yesterday a proposed loan of $250,000,000 for the British government in the form of three and one-half year government securities. The proceeds will be used in part to retire the outstanding bonds of about $135,000,000 British government 5½ per cent notes maturing Nov. 1. The remainder will be available to the British government for its requirements in this country or for those of British merchants to whom the government may sell dollar exchange.

This is the largest financial project undertaken by American bankers since the close of the war. Its flotation is expected in financial circles to stabilize to a considerable extent the long prevailing weakness of exchange on London in this market. A statement issued by Morgan & Co. said:

"We have been authorized by the British government to place, on its behalf, in this country a loan which will give American investors a British government obligation yielding an attractive rate of return in dollars and with the right of conversion into sterling bond which contains distinct possibilities of profit, based on a return to more normal conditions in the exchange market."

"The new securities are in two classes to run for three years and for ten years, respectively, and the conversion privilege, which in effect

PRES. WILSON MAKES AN APPOINTMENT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Announcement that President Wilson had appointed Owen D. Young of Schenectady, N. Y., as a member of the public group of the national industrial conference was cited by White House officials as refuting reports that Mr. Wilson's illness had rendered him incapable of attending to any business.

These officials said it was not the first official action the president had taken since he became ill. Rear-Admiral Grayson, his physician, it was asserted, however, would continue to do what he can to dissuade the patient from giving his attention to any affairs other than those regarded as absolutely essential.

The appointment of Mr. Young was considered necessary inasmuch as a place in the public group of the industrial conference had been vacated by the ill-health of Fuller Callaway, the delegate originally appointed.

White House officials, however, were more optimistic as to the president's condition and expressed the opinion he at last seemed to be started on an uninterrupted course toward recovery.

This feeling of optimism was based largely on the bulletin issued last night by Dr. Grayson, saying that the president yesterday had a "better day than usual." Also it was said that no new complications had entered into the president's illness.

WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY
Miss J. Macklin Beattie, director of the Community Service for Girls, was the principal speaker at a meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church, held last evening with Miss A. M. Wylie and Mrs. Janet Jamieson. Miss Beattie gave a delightful talk on the results which are being accomplished by the organization and stated that Lowell girls are joining the club in large numbers.

WILL DISCUSS PROBLEMS OF THE RETURNED SOLDIER AND SAILOR
Arthur F. Sullivan, director of the after-care department for the Boston Metropolitan chapter Red Cross Home Service, will discuss problems of the returned soldier and sailor at the Red Cross rooms, 81 Merrimack street, tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Everyone interested in the work and future of the soldier is welcome. Mr. Sullivan is one of the best informed men in New England in reconstruction problems. Although deprived of sight for many years he has devoted his life to work among the poor and these physically handicapped.

The problems presented to Red Cross workers are as numerous and varied as there are causes for human worry. Whatever the problem, the Red Cross Home Service section is ready to help. Meeting these and thousands of similar problems is the work of "Home Service."

In the North Middlesex chapter hundreds of soldiers and sailors and their families are cared for monthly. Under the supervision of the Lowell Social Service league the Red Cross has workers who care for at least 400 families a month. John Brophy, an ex-soldier, has charge of the after-care department, dealing with the returned men. The supervision of the 26 districts of the chapter is in charge of Miss Alice Sullivan, who directs the family and after-care work.

SURPRISE PARTY
An enjoyable surprise party was given Miss Alice Bolser, who recently celebrated her 19th birthday, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Moses Bolser, 428 Moody street. The young woman received many presents and during the evening games and music were enjoyed. Refreshments were served.

No ache

The rational treatment for headache is to get at the cause, if possible, and remove it. Headache is only a symptom of trouble somewhere in the system, and dosing with tablets or powders containing acetanilid or other coal-tar derivatives which stop the pain temporarily but weaken the heart, is at once unsafe and unwise. The you at once with proper eyeglasses; but if it comes with furred tongue, loss of appetite, nausea, and constipation, it is usually the result of disordered digestion, or torpid liver, and one or two doses of "L. F." Atwood's Medicine will speedily help you by carrying off impurities and restoring the clogged digestive organs to their normal activity. In using this old reliable remedy, you take no chances of weakening the heart's action. You are not getting rid of your headache for a day or two, you are getting at the cause of illness and creating a permanent improvement.

For sixty years it has proved a safe and reliable standby for sick headache. Large bottles, small dose, fifty cents at any dealer's. The "L. F." Medicine Co., Portland, Maine.

Plans For Revolt in Alsace

PARIS, Oct. 21.—(Havas)—Plans for a revolt in Alsace to take place on Nov. 9 have been discovered at Strasbourg, according to the Echo de Paris. The alleged archconspirator, an engineer named Koessler, has been arrested, with two accomplices, and it is said that a leader of a socialist union, a former Alsatian deputy and a French socialist, are believed to have been implicated. A search of Koessler's residence, is reported to have revealed a large number of propaganda pamphlets and a fund of 35,000 marks. The revolt was to be called on the day that a communist uprising in Germany is said to be scheduled.

Disabled Steamer on Way to Boston

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—The steamer Waxahachie, reported disabled by machinery trouble, is on her way to this port in tow of the British steamer Niceto de Larrinaga. A message received by the naval wireless station today said the ships would reach here tomorrow morning. According to a message picked up last Sunday, the Waxahachie was then 1000 miles southeast of New York with the steamers Sagua and Samland standing by. The Waxahachie was last reported at St. Nazaire and was bound for Baltimore.

You are sure to see SOMETHING on the flames!

WOULD YOU KNOW WHOM YOU

ARE DESTINED TO WED—BUILD

A GHOST FIRE HALLOWEEN

This is the night of Halloween. When all the witches may be seen; Some of them black, some of them green, Some of them like a turkey bean. Whatever a "turkey bean" may be like—

Nevertheless the fact remains that for centuries young men and maidens on the eve of All Saints Day have invoked ghostly information as to their futures.

There are many methods of doing this—such as holding a candle lighted mirror over your head and walking backward down a crooked stairway as the clock strikes midnight. If you are a girl the apparition of your future husband will cloud the mirror's surface. If you are a man vice versa.

YOUR FUTURE HUSBAND.

But the oldest as well as most

A ghost fire is made as follows:

A big dish pan is placed in the center of the floor of a dark room. The pan contains some four or five pounds of salt which has been fairly well saturated with wood alcohol. The party gathers around the pan, chanting the incantation quoted above. Each has been given a chestnut, and each chestnut has been marked in some distinguishing way. A lighted match is thrown on the salt, which breaks into a blaze that gives off an uncanny green light. The chestnuts are then thrown in, and the girl whose chestnut pops first will be the first bride. Of course, she must immediately eat the chestnut. But—that is not all.

She is supposed to see the face of her future husband arising from the flames!

THE GHOST FIRE.

This ghost fire is a direct survival of the earliest Druid rituals. In Scotland, Ireland, and Wales Druidism left its impress upon the later Christian faith, and to this day traces of its fire altars are still found.

Now the Druids believed in transmigration of souls, and on the eve of their festival to the sun they lighted their fire altars to propitiate the spirits of darkness. The custom was kept up in parts of Great Britain until a comparatively recent period. None of the levity caused by the modern "witch fire" however was attached to this observance. Instead of chestnuts being roasted white stones, each previously marked with the name of a member of the family, were thrown into the Halloween fire. Prayers were then said and the family went to bed hoping to find all the stones again in the morning. If any stone were missing, it betokened that the owner of it would die within the year.

While some superstitions are pretty, this was one of many which were cruel. Happily only sportiveness remains today of this quaint, old-time ceremony, and whatever incantations are chanted have to do with healthy nonsense.

CLEMENCEAU CONVERTED

of Heaven and Priest Had

it Removed

PARIS, Oct. 21.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier Clemenceau's former hostility to priests and anything religious is well known, but the old premier has undergone an evolution in his ideas concerning the clergy. M. Clemenceau's home in Rue Franklin is immediately adjacent to the building occupied by a religious community, the Fathers of St. Louis, who boasted of a wonderful garden with a majestic plane tree, the huge leaves of which completely darkened the window of the premier's private office. Clemenceau sent a note to Father Tregard, intimating that the removal of the plane tree would be greatly appreciated. The priest did not reply; the plane tree still remained and Clemenceau renewed his request. Finally the priest called upon the premier.

"Please do me the favor of having this tree removed," pleaded Clemenceau. "It obstructs my vision of heaven."

So plans a wish could not remain unanswered and the tree came down.

BEWITCHING FROCK FOR HALLOWEEN DANCE

BY BETTY BROWN

NEW YORK, October.—What could be more bewitching for the Halloween dance than this old timey frock of cloudy chiffon and lace?

Built of layers of shell-pink, the lightest of chrome yellows, and pale green chiffon over an underskirt of silver cloth this gown is a dream of moonlight on water.

Like all the really good looking clothes this season its fundamental keynote is simplicity, depending wholly on material and line for effect. The foundation of silver cloth is a plain narrow skirted slip. The pink chiffon underskirt, a straight piece of material some two yards round, is gathered at the waistline. It is laid on the bodice plain, reaching over the shoulders to form the very short kimono sleeves. The silver cloth ends just above the bust line. The yellow chiffon is handled in the same manner, save that the skirt instead of being only two or three yards wide and has inserts of broad lace bands as shown in the sketch. The last layer of chiffon is the palest imaginable green, draped over the bodice with some suggestion of fullness, and with its skirt at least four yards in width lightly gathered at the waist.

It should be noted that the bodice makes its own design with just a suggestion of a basque emphasized by the V-shaped trim ending in a rosette with fluttering ends. Inch wide velvet ribbon of dull water green is used.

OKLAHOMA SUPPORTERS OF LEAGUE WIN

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 21.—Oklahoma supporters of the League of Nations today claimed a clean cut victory in last Saturday's primary in the fifth congressional district, through the apparent overwhelming defeat of Edward Boyle, anti-league candidate for the democratic nomination. Boyle on the face of virtually complete returns finished eighth in a list of nine candidates.

Claude Weaver, who made an active campaign on a pro-league platform, received the democratic nomination, according to returns from 261 out of 263 precincts.

J. W. Harold, who received the republican nomination, has announced that he expects his opposition to the league to carry him into office. The election is to name a successor to the late Representative Joseph H. Thompson.

WOULD ABOLISH SUNDAY "MOVIES"

The Lowell Federation of Churches, meeting last evening at the Young Men's Christian association, delegated a committee to investigate the class of pictures being shown in local "movie" houses, with the ultimate aim of attempting to abolish Sunday performances altogether and raising the standard of pictures shown on week days. The members assembled also accepted a resolution presented by Rev. N. W. Matthews of the Gorham Street P. M. church, endorsing the plea of the Lowell fremen for the two-platoon system.

The appointment of a committee to commence a campaign against Sunday motion picture entertainments came after a report of the social service committee on the Sabbath Day opening of theatres. The committee, headed by Rev. E. T. Favro of the Paige Street Baptist church, is empowered only to investigate and report back to the federation at a special meeting to be called soon. The resolution adopted, endorsing

GERMAN COLONIZATION PLANS FOR MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Monday, Oct. 20.—Concrete evidence of German colonization plans for Mexico was revealed here today with the announcement of an enterprise for the irrigation of 300,000 hectares of land in the Fuerte river valley, in the state of Sinaloa, where thousands of German emigrants are expected to buy small parcels on a 20-year payment plan.

The corporation is being floated by Jose Meakney, a Mexico City capitalist, with the support of Gen. Ramon Huerta, governor of Sinaloa. The land is declared to be extremely fertile and the plan is being backed by German banks here.

LOWELL REPRESENTED AT CONVENTION OF UNITED TEXTILE WORKERS OF AMERICA

Ten or more Lowell men and women are attending the annual convention of the United Textile Workers of America, which went into session at Baltimore, Md., yesterday. Among those from this city are Thomas J. Reagan and John Hanley, and the former again, is a candidate for a position on the executive board of the international body.

The Bottlers' union met last night, with President Harry Moran presiding. Among the items of business considered was the double-platoon system for fremen and it received the endorsement of the body.

The Velvet and Corduroy workers also endorsed the fremen's plea at a meeting held last evening, while the Loomfixers convened under Vice President Thibault.

FIGHT TO STOP GERMAN OPERA

Police Disperse Crowd of Service Men Outside New York Theatre

Concert Goes on in Defiance
of Mayor's Order—Shots
Fired—Several Injured

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.—Mounted police last night charged a crowd of 300 service men massed in front of the Lexington theatre to prevent production of German opera, upon which Mayor Hylan had placed an official ban.

Dispersed by the police, the service men hastened to Times square, re-erected nearly 1000 civilians and returned to the Opera House. One section of the line engaged in a fight with the police, laying down a barrage of bricks and stones.

Some Shots Fired

In the melee some shots were fired, but whether by police or the indignant service men, spectators could not determine. Scores of windows were smashed by stones and one marine suffered a fracture of the hip.

A block of cement was hurled from the roof of a building opposite the theatre. It struck the midguard of a passing automobile and rolled to the sidewalk, almost striking two police inspectors.

Detectives, ordered to the roof, arrested Joseph Smith, a sailor from the U.S.S. Imperator, on a charge of disorderly conduct. A few minutes later a mounted policeman was struck in the face by a billiard ball.

Various posts of the American Legion had adopted resolutions condemning introduction of German opera scheduled for last night. Yesterday representatives of the Manhattan Naval post waited on Mayor Hylan with a petition that the performance be stopped. After consultation the mayor issued an order prohibiting the performance, but, despite this order, the sale of tickets continued.

In announcing his decision the mayor said: "Although the American Legion failed to produce proof of German propaganda, and I am convinced that there is no propaganda connected with the opening, yet it is my judgment that the opening of this opera should be deferred until after the ratification of the treaty of peace."

Croix de Guerre Man Leads

Hundreds of soldiers, sailors and marines gathered in front of the theatre, watched the sale of tickets continue, and when the doors opened they raised a howl of derision and anger.

Then, with an American banner at its head, a long column of uniformed men swung down the street. Upon their appearance a call for police reserves was sent in. The service men were led by a marine wearing a Croix de Guerre. A few minutes after the curtain had been raised and the strains of German music sifted out through the doors, the veterans pressed forward, but only to be driven back and temporarily dispersed by mounted police.

On learning that directors of the Star Opera company intended to give the performance regardless of his order, the mayor sent Grover A. Whalen, commissioner of plants and structures, to the theatre and after receiving a report by telephone, dictated the following statement:

"After concluding that the opera should be deferred until the ratification of the treaty of peace, I endeavored to reach the corporation counsel to advise with him as to my legal right to have the police arbitrarily refuse to allow people to enter the Lexington theatre."

"It was impossible to reach the corporation counsel and I therefore advised the police not to interfere until I could obtain the advice of the corporation counsel to the end that I may proceed legally."

WOULD PENALIZE THOSE WHO BAR CHILDREN

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 21.—Calling attention yesterday to the falling birth rate, Dr. Byron U. Richards, secretary of the state board of health, declared that he hoped the legislature would pass a law making it a crime for landlords to refuse to rent homes to families with children.

If you have roaring, buzzing noises in your ears, are getting hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmitin (double strength), and add to it 1/2 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal trouble of the ears, is hard of hearing or has head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Adv.

condition," said Dr. Richards. "It does not appear to me that we are meeting the situation's demand when we are permitting house owners to penalize couples that are willing to go without a large share of the comforts of life in order to do their duty by the race."

CULTIVATION OF THRIFT URGED

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 21.—Stimulation and cultivation of thrift to combat radicalism were urged by speakers at the convention of the Investment Bankers' association here today.

Persons having investments will not entertain ideas tending toward destruction of the government, George W. Hodges, of New York, nominee for president of the association, told the convention.

An advertising campaign against fraudulent stock and bond brokers was advocated by Rudolph Guenther, of New York.

APPLES GOOD FOR THAT TIRED FEELING

The basis of health is diet and wise housewives are constantly searching for information about food for they realize that before all else they must keep their families not only nourished but healthily nourished. They also, who have this problem at heart, know that to stimulate the jaded appetite they must appeal to the eye.

The apple, as old as the Garden of Eden, is just beginning to be appreciated as an important article of diet. Until recently apples have been eaten simply because they are a delicious fruit and because they are considered healthful but just why has never been really understood.

Apples contain more iron, necessary to provide red corpuscles than is obtained from flour, which makes bread, "the staff of life." Iron is necessary to the body for energy. There is more fuel value in the good ripe apple per pound (235 calories) than in beefsteak, string beans, egg-plant, carrots, tomatoes, squash, canned peas, turnips, oysters, kumquats or buttermilk. Calcium is another content of the apple. Calcium is indispensable to the health of the bones and the teeth and all intestinal secretions. Calcium and potassium are found in equal proportions in the apple and both are of real value to the body. Every cell of the healthy body contains potassium, but when food lacking this necessity is consumed, the body quickly loses its healthy quality. Magnesium, another content of the apples, serves as a phosphorus carrier in vegetable nutrition and without phosphorus there would be no living cell in the body. So you can see that the .03 per cent of phosphorus in a good ripe apple is valuable indeed.

It has been found upon investigation that the prevalent malnutrition throughout America is not due to any lack of protein, but more especially to the lack of calcium and phosphorus in the over refined food stuffs so much in vogue at present.

These are the scientific facts about apples—take them to heart, oh you housewives, who desire to feed your families with a view to health. Keep apples within reach. Appeal to the World's Greatest Invention!

New IDEAL-Arcola Radiator-Boiler

in cottages, flats, or stores, with or without cellars

The IDEAL-Arcola takes the place of a parlor stove. But a stove wastes much of its heat up the chimney, whereas the IDEAL-Arcola is water-jacketed, and conveys its heat by hot water circulation through pipe-connected AMERICAN Radiators stationed in the adjoining rooms. Every bit of the big volume of heat developed from each pound of fuel is therefore made useful in keeping ALL the rooms uniformly, healthfully warm. There is no coal-waste. The IDEAL-Arcola does not rust out or wear out—will outlast the building—is a genuine, permanent investment!

Shipped complete ready for immediate operation

The beauty of the IDEAL-Arcola method is that no cellar is needed. Everything is on one floor. The Arcola is placed in any room that has a chimney connection. No running to cellar. If there are two or more tenants in the building, each can have his own Arcola and make the temperature to suit his own needs—can make his own climate! If you do not wish at first to heat the entire building, buy a small size IDEAL-Arcola and later on buy extra sections for the IDEAL-Arcola and two or three more radiators to warm more rooms.

free from fire risks!

Unlike stoves, there are no coal-gas leaks into the living-rooms. The IDEAL-Arcola delivers the soft, radiant warmth of hot water—not the dry, burnt-out atmosphere of stove heating. There is no fire risk to building—no danger to children—fire lasts for hours! The Arcola burns hard or soft coal, coke, gas, or wood. Brings cost of heating down to the lowest notch—and gives IDEAL comfort.

Catalog showing open views of houses, individual flats, stores, offices, etc., with the IDEAL-Arcola Boiler in position will be mailed (free). Write today

ONTARIO GOES "DRY"

Returns for Election Show
Overwhelming Majority
for Prohibition

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 21.—Incomplete returns from yesterday's election, in which Sir William Hearst, premier of the province and the conservative government have been swamped, indicate that Ontario has gone "dry" by an overwhelming majority.

Throughout the province, especially in the rural districts, the prohibition wave has rolled high. The voting was 3 to 1 in favor of it in some districts.

The defeat of the Hearst conservative government, according to Mail and Empire, conservative organ, was due mainly to the big vote polled by the United Farmers' and labor candidates who took 43 and 12 seats, respectively. The liberals despite their win of five seats in Toronto, will stand apparently as they stood in the last legislature.

POLICE FORCE

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Gov. Coolidge said late yesterday afternoon that the situation regarding the recruiting of the Boston police force is "generally satisfactory" and that it is probable there will be no further effort to obtain applicants from other cities.

The governor's statement was preceded by a conference with Police Commissioner Edwin U. Curtis, Herbert Parker, the commissioner's counsel and Civil Service Commissioner Elmer L. Curtis. Police Commissioner Curtis had been sent for by the governor, who desired information regarding the recruiting.

At the conclusion of their conference Gov. Coolidge said: "The situation is generally satisfactory. Of course it cannot be completely satisfactory until Boston has a new police force, but the progress that is being made is satisfactory."

"Today 51 men made application for appointment; the total number of applicants who have passed the police examining board is approximately 1000, and of these 495 have been certified to Police Commissioner Curtis for appointment. In view of the number of duty applications being made by residents of Boston and vicinity, it is probable that there will be no further efforts to obtain applicants in other large cities of the commonwealth."

Several negroes were among those passed for the new police force yesterday. Many of the others were men who can speak languages other than English.

$100,000 Riot Damage

City Clerk Donovan turned over yesterday all claims due to looting to the first night of the police strike, exceeding $100,000, to the city council committee on claims. After they are scrutinized they will be handed to the law department.

ELIZABETH KALB

ADVOCATES SHORT
HAIR FOR WOMEN

WASHINGTON, October.—Miss Elizabeth Kalb, editor of the Suffragist, has bobbed her hair and predicts that soon all women will discover the advantages of short locks.

"The day of the short-haired woman will soon be here in reality," said Miss Kalb. "I cut mine for convenience's sake and under no circumstances would I let it grow long again. My head feels better, I am rid of hairpins, I don't have to hang my head out at the window over the fire escape for hours to dry my hair when I wash it. Men got onto this centuries ago, but women are adopting it with their new freedom."

Miss Kalb was graduated from Rice Institute, Houston, Texas, in 1916, being with the first graduating class of that school. Her diploma gave her an A.B. degree, bearing the words "with distinction." She studied literature a year at the University of Chicago, then came to Washington and served five days in the District of Columbia jail for being a militant picket. A hunger strike made it necessary to take her from prison on a stretcher.

Often, in cases of great emergency, this department of the Red Cross was the only communication possible and to widely separated families and loved ones, it furnished longed-for details.

In response to many requests from the United States, together with the plea of the Polish people themselves, this service now has been added to the work carried on by the American Red Cross in Poland, according to information received from Warsaw by the North Middlesex chapter, with headquarters in this city.

By Polish-Americans on this side of the Atlantic and by families of Poles who emigrated to this country, the Red Cross is regarded at present as almost the only connecting link. Particularly in this true when relatives in Poland are located in remote districts where regular mail service has not been re-established.

Investigating the circumstances of families of young Polish-Americans who served in the United States service during the war is one of the primary functions of the home service department. Through its workers in the field, in response to letters from the United States, this bureau locates families, reports on conditions and relieves distress. The Red Cross also is helping the United States government to find beneficiaries of government insurance in Poland. It facilitates the delivery of payments to proper persons, some of whom are at points inaccessible through ordinary channels.

This is but one instance of the great amount of after-war work being done by the Red Cross, whose field is equally as broad and urgent as during the days of strife. European countries still ask for aid and every bit possible is being sent over by chapters in this country. Chapter treasuries have become depleted and unless memberships are renewed and other subscriptions received, the local work cannot go on. The roll call of members will emphasize these points to show that the work of the humanitarian organization is just as needed and important today as it was two years ago.

Six million dollars have been collected at Buenos Aires as a fund to combat Bolshevism.

TO STOP LYNCHINGS

The National Equal Rights league with headquarters in Boston has protested against the alarming outbreak of mob violence which resulted in the lynching of a considerable number of negroes.

This association cannot too strongly denounce the unbridled cruelty of the mobs which committed these crimes nor the apparent connivance of local authorities with the exception of the Omaha case. Too often the jails are ready to submit without any show of resistance to the demand of the mob that some negro prisoner be turned over to it to be subjected to the most barbarous cruelties and finally burned alive.

Two overpowering reasons are urged in support of the appeal to the national government to put down lynching, the first being one of simple justice for the negroes who have a right to court trials same as other criminals when they violate the law; and second, to remove the disgrace of such outrages which have no parallel in any other civilized nation.

It is true that the states have failed utterly to stop the lynchings and that if such crimes are not to go on and even to be increased, the federal authorities must step in to see that negro prisoners shall have justice dealt out to them by the courts and not be subject to the brutal vengeance of their white neighbors who are unwilling to grant justice to the negroes and who lynch them for offenses which if committed by whites would receive but a passing notice.

Apart from the injustice to the negroes, the menace of mob rule has reached such alarming proportions as to make imperative the adoption of some fixed policy of prevention under federal control.

The manner in which the negroes responded to the call for service in the late war and their bravery and patriotism as shown on the battlefields of Europe, entitle them to justice which they can never obtain in such states as Georgia, the Carolinas and some others, unless the federal government makes it compulsory and holds the states responsible for such brutalizing outrages.

REV. DR. PARK'S PLAN

Rev. J. Edgar Park of Newton, recently returned from Ireland, gives a very sensible view of the political situation. Rev. Dr. Park is a Protestant clergyman and a native of Ulster, so that he understands the situation better than people who have never visited the country and who get their information through biased sources. He states that the solution of the Irish problem must come in the form of a compromise on dominion home rule and that the government, if necessary, should coerce Ulster into accepting it.

In this statement Rev. Dr. Park strikes the root of the whole controversy. If England had granted an acceptable measure of home rule applicable to all of Ireland, there would not have been any trouble. She is now suppressing the Sinn Féin party by military force and unless she grants dominion home rule there will be no possibility of a settlement, as the Irish people would fight on for fifty years longer, rather than see their little country divided on factional lines. There never would have been any trouble between the religious denominations, if it were not for government agitators such as Carson, who are rewarded by high appointments for their opposition to the other provinces of Ireland.

Dr. Park puts the situation in the following terms:

"If Great Britain can give Ireland a measure of dominion home rule and coerce Ulster into accepting this solution, the arrangement, especially under a League of Nations, would work out well. Only in this way, I am convinced, can Ireland secure an independence which will be in any way satisfactory to both sides."

Inasmuch as the home rule act now on the statute book is to take effect automatically with the declaration of peace, perhaps England may decide to settle the question as Dr. Park suggests. Although there would be protests from the extreme element, the solution might finally work out to the satisfaction of all parties, as it would offer the Irish people the right to self-government, which they have been seeking for the last 100 years.

THREE THINGS NEEDED

There are three things that congress can do at once to safeguard the households of America; to curb the crooks that are plotting against every American pocketbook.

First—The Lever food bill, with a prison penalty for food gamblers, should be extended to operate after peace is signed.

Second—The power of the sugar equalization board should be extended after January 1, 1920.

Third—The scheme to boost the price of coffee, in which the Brazilian government is the accomplice of food speculators, should be rigorously investigated.

Not one argument has been offered against any of these measures. The department of justice promises to cut prices down to normal by jailing profiteers. It pleads with congress to give it a fair opportunity. President Wilson asked for legislation against profiteering ten weeks ago. One reason that congress stalls and delays is that the public is doing nothing. Of course, everyone complains and protests and wonders why. But a two-cent stamp, an envelope and a sheet of paper will carry your wishes straight to the men who have the power to help you.

Food speculators, with millions at stake, aren't idle—not for a minute. You, with your earnings and savings at stake—why don't you help? Just write, "Dear Senator" or "Dear Congressman." Don't forget us. Guard us against the profiteer by pushing the measures needed to fight the high cost of living. Give us as much protection in peacetime as we had in wartime.

The appeals of the national leaders, the press and public economists will have more weight if backed up by the people.—N. E. A.

TREATY RESERVATIONS

The treaty reservations will not affect the treaty itself but will mainly show the position of the American senate relative to certain provisions. This mode of objecting to something which we are to accept may appear to have little significance for the present; but in the not distant future our reservations may be made the pretext for a lively fight in the League of Nations and may even cause the United States to withdraw. It can be easily imagined what a demand will go forth from the American senate two or three years hence, if by that time, Japan has not turned back Shantung to China.

The whole Shantung question will again be brought up not only in the League of Nations, but in the American senate and house.

On whatever pretense Japan got hold of Shantung, she will be called upon to abandon it in accordance with her promise. If allowed to hold the province for four or five years, she will have supplanted many of the Chinese residents so that a referendum might declare in her favor.

But the United States senate will watch the action of Japan in the premises and will insist that she withdraw before she can have time to carry out the Japanizing process.

FRENCH INTELLECTUALS

The college professors of France are to decide by a referendum whether they shall form a national association and affiliate with a labor organization as a means of securing higher salaries. The school teachers of that country already have joined a labor federation, although their right to do so has not been recognized by the government. The college professors are agitating for a great organization to be known as the National Federation of Intellectuals to include all technical men, journalists, school teachers, professors, authors, doctors and lawyers. This proposition indicates that something of the Bolshevik spirit has struck the "intellectuals," so that in France the radical professors are liable to become the leaders of the Reds.

It is rather surprising that the highly educated classes should resort to this method of securing better compensation for their services. After such patriotic sacrifices as they voluntarily made during the war, it might be assumed that they would not readily lend themselves to any movement that would embarrass the government.

WM. E. RUSSELL

The admirers of the late Governor Russell, and they are numerous in Middlesex county, will be glad to support his son and namesake, William E. Russell, now candidate on the democratic ticket for the office of district attorney for Middlesex county. Well fitted by education and training for the office he seeks, he is assured of the support of a large section of the republican party throughout the county as a recognition of his personal ability and popularity as well as out of regard for his father, one of the best and ablest governors the old Bay State has ever had. If the boy is anything like his father, and he is said to resemble him very much, old Middlesex should be proud to honor him by election to the office he seeks.

EMBARGO ON EXPORTS

It is announced that Congressman Dallinger has introduced a bill prohibiting the export of sugar for six months. Some action of that kind is necessary to save the country from a sugar famine. Under present conditions our domestic supply is inadequate to meet the demands of our own people, much less those of foreign nations. Much of the abundant fruit crop of the present year has been allowed to go to waste on account of the lack of sugar for canning purposes. It is difficult to understand why sugar should be more scarce now than it was during the war and why the price should be much higher.

AMERICANIZATION

The best kind of Americanization would probably be that proposed by Senator Walsh. He would make it compulsory upon aliens to learn the English language and make some move towards becoming citizens within five years or be deported. That would probably bar out the anarchistic tribe that comes here to embark upon a life of crime in the role of revolutionary workers, living upon the hard earned money of the people they are leading astray.

BAN ON HUNTING

It will be a surprise to some of our foreign residents to find that only those who are naturalized or who own real estate taxed for $500 will have the privilege of hunting or fishing in this state. The law is quite rigid and the penalty is 30 days in jail with a fine of $50, either or both. Inasmuch as many foreigners have been in the habit of hunting and fishing quite freely, they will now have to desist, or be subject to arrest and conviction under this new law.

Now that the "Flying Parson," Maynard, has created record history by winning the transcontinental air derby, he announces a desire to try a single stop flight from Minneapolis to San Diego, the one rest being at Dallas. He adds that it ought to be just as easy as one of 44 stops, as landing is the most dangerous phase of flying. Quite true, brother, but we should say that the element of luck will play a leading role in the one-stop dash. It will not be a test of wizardry at the control stick half as much as it will be of good luck if he makes it, and "hard luck" if he fails.

It is in order for the republican committees of congress appointed to investigate war expenditures to probe the receipts of any democrats who appeared to make an extraordinary profit. These committees are conducting political fishing parties and if they can cast discredit upon the administration they will do so and they will render a double service to their party if they can discredit a democratic candidate here and there. Thus far the results of their work have been disappointing to themselves.

The printed picture of the proposed auditorium, so beautiful, so symmetrical, so artistic in every feature, gives but a very limited idea of what the structure will be if completed according to present plans. It will certainly be a memorial of which Lowell may be justly proud, one which for architectural beauty and perfect adaptation to the purpose intended will probably not be surpassed by any similar building in New England.

President Fawcett of Brown University is authority for the statement that unless the salary of professors be materially increased, the strongest men will inevitably drift out of the teaching profession. In this he is right and the result would be a serious blow to the colleges. Already Harvard and other leading institutions of learning have lost some of their best men.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Yes, it really happened. I wasn't there but I know a man who was. The time was last Saturday night, and the scene was the well, I guess I'll just say a roadhouse, not many miles from Lowell. Although the law has stopped the selling of liquor or attempted to—guests were furnishing their own supply in some cases, and the management obligingly furnished the glasses. But the going was tough, only a few stray pints added to the general gaiety of the affair, with now and again a quart bottle, betokening the uncanny foresight of its owner. An auto party of eight arrived, and brought in from the machine all kinds and brands of fire water; practically every variety of thirst-quenching beverages was represented in the assortment placed on the table before a sea of envious eyes. It was too much for a short fat man who had got outside of some beverage which had given him, to say the least, a slight "jingle." He solemnly rose from his chair and while the onlookers applauded, paced up and down in front of the more fortunate dining party, shouting in a forlorn and dreary monotone: "This barroom is unfair to organized labor—don't patronize this barroom." No, I don't know how he got that way.

Apples are plentiful in this part of the country, but nevertheless the great quantity of the fruit has no effect on the price, for last Saturday on the public market in Anne street apples were marked $5 a barrel. I am informed that the crop is so large that some farmers are unable to pick all their fruit and in many instances apples are being sold on the trees. I have a friend, who a week ago went up Chelmsford street, way and purchased two trees at $5 each, and they netted him nine barrels of No. 1 Baldwin apples. Of course he had to do the picking himself and then pay for the transportation, but at he feels that his winter stock of apples is very cheap, when the prices of the market are to be taken into consideration. Hawkers and peddlers are also buying their apples direct from the farmers and on the trees, and I hear that they are storing them away to await a higher price.

If any Lowell man who served with the United States army during the war feels that he did not get all that was coming to him in the way of clothing that he might keep as a souvenir after he was discharged, he has an opportunity to straighten matters out and get what is coming to him, according to notification received at the local army recruiting station in Merrimack street. The notice says that the following articles of clothing and equipment may be permanently retained by enlisted men upon their being honorably discharged: One overseas cap (for all enlisted men who had service overseas, or one hat and one hat cord for all other enlisted men), one olive drab shirt, one service coat and ornaments, one pair of breeches, one pair of shoes, one pair of leggings, one waist belt, one poncho, one overcoat, two suits of underwear, four pairs of stockings, one pair of gloves, one gas mask and helmet (if issued overseas), one barrack bag and three scarlet chevrons. Men who have not received all these articles may make application for them to the supplies division, office of the director of storage, Washington.

Mr. Alfred Armstrong of 350 Rogers street writes to say that England produced the original war tank and used it to good effect in the last years of the war. Mr. Armstrong had a nephew in the tank service in France during the war and he too tells how the tanks were evolved in England. Mr. Armstrong, speaking of his relatives who served in the war says: "One of my brothers had four sons in the war; one sister had five sons in the war; her son only one; one brother, his only son; out of this number only four were killed, and the parents of the others write me saying they have been the luckiest in the entire town of 12,000 population, so heavy were the losses during the great struggle."

SEEN AND HEARD

The city of Bridgeport won't allow any immigrants to occupy homes erected by the housing corporation until they are able to speak English. Compulsory Americanization, as it were.

The news item to the effect that the horses which took part in the 30-mile road test from Fort Ethan Allen to Camp Devens lost between 10 and 70 pounds each should be a hint to the bulky humans who cry in anguish that they can't reduce no matter what they do.

Some fellow professing keen insight into the future says that no doubt our great-great grandchildren will voice loud and vociferous protest at the raising of wages from $35 to $51 a day, and that special grand juries will investigate grocers who

They say that one of woman's 175,567,321 prerogatives is the right to anticipate the seasons of the year in her wearing apparel. Following the same line, let's pretend it's January, 1921, and launch into the following standard fashion in winter song:

Jingle, bells! Jingle, bells!
Jingle all the way!
Oh! what fun it is to ride,
In a one-horse open sleigh!

Almost hear the bells ringing, can't you?

Lack of Caution

A false charge had been brought at his court, and the magistrate remarked: "We are all liable to make mistakes. I thought I was wearing my watch, but I have just discovered that I had left it at home."

When he arrived home that evening his wife said to him:

The Work Habit

Habit is an awful thing. Including the work habit.

When once it fastens upon its victim it never lets go, not until the undertaker hoves into sight.

J. Henry Harper tells in his "The House of Harper" about the work habit of a horse.

This horse was bought, installed in the cellar where he hauled round and round the beam of a perpendicular shaft connected with the machinery of the press room on the floor above.

For years and years the horse stepped his merry-go-round from 7 a. m. to noon, then an hour for lunch, and at it again until the whistle blew at 6.

Finally the horse's years and the advent of up-to-date machinery drove him out of the cellar. Harper's sent old Dobbin to a farm to spend his old age in peace and idleness.

Peace? Yes. But no idleness for him.

For a week or so the horse stuck to the stall erected for him. Then one day he found a tree near the middle of the pasture. That afternoon the farmer saw the horse going round and round the tree. He kept it up until he heard a whistle blow. Then he quit. Next day and the following days the horse went out to that tree every morning, walked around it until noon, rested an hour, and then started work again.

It was a habit with him. He couldn't break it.

A Chicago merchant who had made a fortune in his large downtown department store, sold out. Family and doctors told him he ought to stop work and play a while.

For a year he got along fairly well. Nine-tenths of the time he spent

SEVEN BARKS

It may be possible that you don't know what SEVEN BARKS stands for, so we will enlighten you: It is a safe, remarkable remedy, made from the extracts of seven different kinds of roots and herbs, every one of which has great medicinal value, scientifically blended and for nearly 50 years has been a reliable remedy for indigestion, Constipation, Liver, Kidney and Stomach disorders.

SEVEN BARKS has never been extensively advertised, but has enjoyed a wonderful and steady sale for nearly a half century, and purely upon its merits.

SEVEN BARKS has saved thousands of families doctors' bills, as well as untold suffering. It is inexpensive, only 50 cents per bottle, and the dose is from 10 to 20 drops in a little water after meals.

There is hardly a family but what some member is more or less frequently troubled with Biliousness, Indigestion, Liver or Kidney trouble. If you have never tried SEVEN BARKS, do not fail to do so, and watch the rapid and wonderful results.

Don't put off asking your druggist for SEVEN BARKS; if he does not happen to have it, he will get it for you.—Adv.

veling about, visiting old friends. Then there was nothing for him to do. He started a little store in a north shore suburb, and was happy. It is only the fellow who has to work when he grows old who imagines it would be nice and pleasant loafing. And he doesn't think that way two weeks after unexpected good fortune has made it possible for him to quit work.

Seems that the only ones who have succeeded in liking idleness have been Adam (before the apple episode), the hobbe, and the young man whose wealthy father always insisted that his son "should never have to work as hard as I did."

Distinct Days (Copyright, 1919, N.E.A.) There's something brings it back to me the quiet, little street. The swaying tops of poplars where we perched our childish feet. The games we played, the sports we had, the comradeship we knew, With all the world a story-book and all the stories true! The humble little cottages, but even the poorest place. Sat snugly in its plot of green and kept its breathing space. And picket railings on the fence kept all misfortune barred. And morning glories arched the porch and sunflowers decked the yard.

It seemed the sun shone every day, and happiness was sure. And none of us felt poverty, for all of us were poor. And at times the fare was plenty and we had the ration light. But to them both we always brought the same sound appetite. And why the world was all so fine we had no means of knowing; It was enough to touch and love and feel the joy of growing. And every day was glorified and every night was starred with morning glories on the porch and sunflowers in the yard.

LOWELL WINS FROM LAWRENCE, 5 TO 2
SAYS MCCOY AND MOORE ARE GLASSY PAIR

LAWRENCE, Oct. 21.—Lowell outplayed the locals here last night and by showing their best work in the sixth straight defeat for Lawrence. The final score was 5 to 2. Fred Lincoln joined the Lawrence team and added some strength. It was the sixth straight defeat for Lawrence. The old team work of Harkins and Griffith, so prominent in the past, was again in evidence last night and their passing was the feature of the game.

Lowell and Providence will play at the Crescent rink tonight.

"Duke" Duffness, one of the most aggressive defensive men in the game, will be in the Providence lineup tonight. Last season the "duke" was somewhere in France as a member of the great American army. Reports from Providence and the other cities where the "duke" has played, state that he is going better than ever and has been ordinarily greeted everywhere. His many local friends will give him a big hand tonight.

"Legs" Thompson is another member of the Providence outfit who enjoys wide popularity here. He's a star player, fast on the skates and a hard and accurate hitter. The other members of the Rhode Island entry are playing fast polo, and as they defeated Lowell Saturday night, Capt. Harkins and his pals will be out for revenge tonight.

MANCHESTER TEAM LOOKS FOR GAMES
The football eleven of the Giant A.C. of Manchester, N. The manager of the Giant A.C. sends word that he will play a generous guarantee and would appreciate a reply immediately. If the Indians do not want either of these dates any other strong team may secure one of them. Address all communications to Edward J. Deherly, 46 Falls Avenue, Manchester, N. H. Tel. 3389-J.

THIS TINY GIRL WINS CONTEST AS MARY PICKFORD'S SUCCESSOR

Mary Pickford's projected retirement from the screen has set the picture-fans to guessing as to who will be her successor in the public heart. Here's one candidate—this Blanche McGarity, 16 years old, 4 feet, 11 inches as tall. There's only 101 lbs. of her, but every ounce is pure Texas sunshine.

Blanche, along with nearly 300,000 girls from all parts of the United States and Canada, submitted her photo in competition. The leading 25 appeared personally before Mary Pickford, Thomas Ince, Cecil de Mille, James Montgomery Flagg, Howard Chandler Christy, and other famous judges of beauty and talent. And Blanche McGarity won.

SCHOOL TEACHERS HOLD MEETING

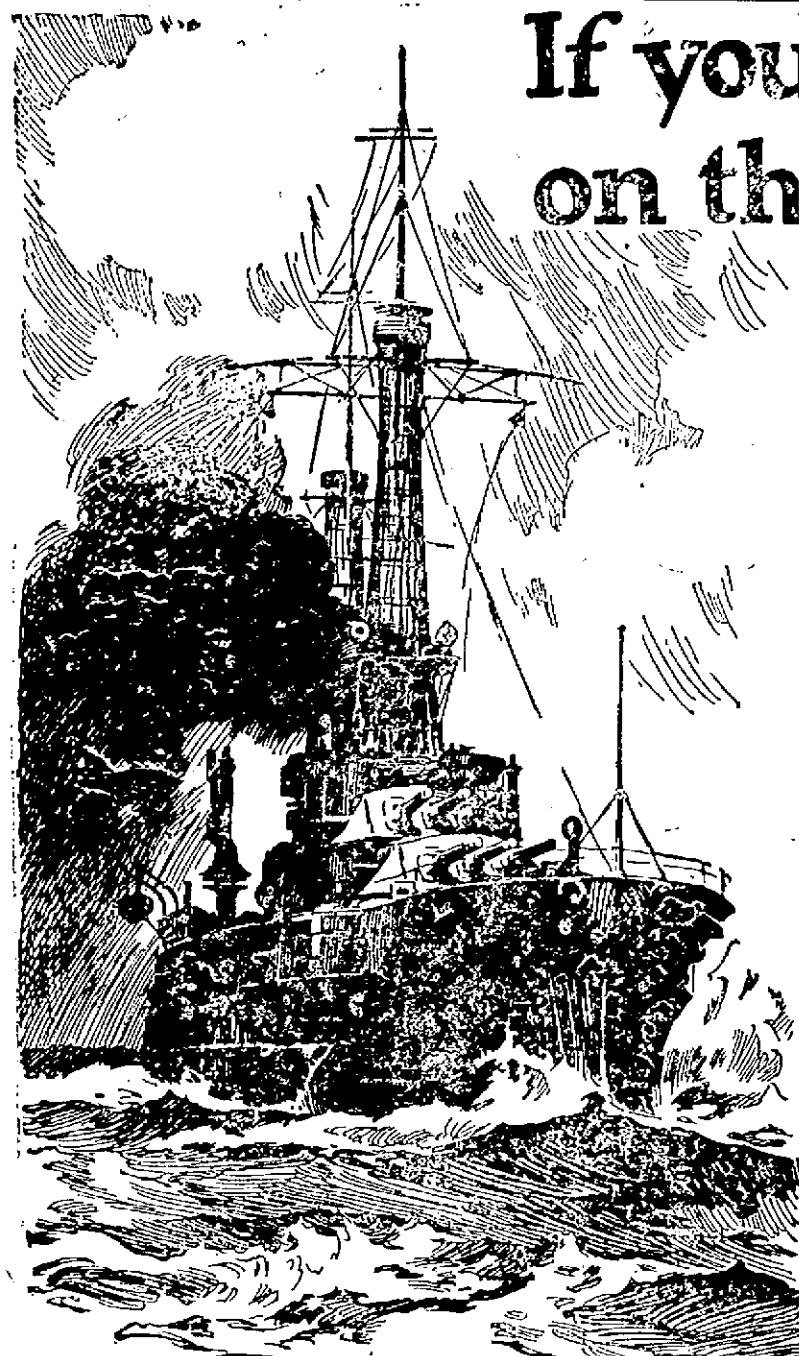

There will be no session of the public schools of Lowell on Friday, Oct. 21. Acting Supt. Henry H. Harris stated today, owing to the fact that the annual convention of the Middlesex County Teachers' association is to be held on that date in Tremont Temple, Boston.

This convention is the largest gathering of teachers held yearly in any part of the country. The presiding officer this year will be John F. Anthony of the Melrose school department, who will officiate at the high school section of the convention. The high school teachers will meet in the hearing room of the state house this year, the first time they have done so since the association has been holding meetings.

Mr. Harris of this city, who is a member of the board of directors which arranged for the convention, will preside at the meeting of grammar school teachers in Converse hall, Tremont Temple, in the morning. In the afternoon the convention will be entertained by the Boston Quintet, a notable musical organization.

All-Star Show at Lawrence Saturday

LAWRENCE, Oct. 21.—Never before in the history of fistic circles of the east has such a splendid array of mitt artists been seen on any one program as will appear at the All Star Show arranged by John E. Cuddy, Jr., and which will be staged next Saturday afternoon, Oct. 25, at Cuddy Brothers Arena on West street under the joint auspices of the Army, Navy and Civilian Board of Boxing Control and the Atlas A.A. of this city.

There will be four bouts, each of 10 rounds, and the following clever boys have been matched:

Pal Reed of Boston and Red Vison of Waterbury, Conn.

Al Shubert of New Bedford and Battling Reddy of New York.

Harney Adair of New York and Chick Simler of Buffalo, N. Y.

Joe Tiplitz of New York and Joey Fox of Philadelphia.

This will be the last open-air program of the season.

HOOKAY: BABY BAN BUSTED IN OAKLAND APARTMENT-ROUSE

The Apartment Tenants' Defense Association of Oakland, Cal., has scored its first great victory. Babies are to be admitted under certain restrictions, to Oakland's largest apartment houses.

The inhuman ban against infant humanity is weakening at last. Under leadership of local attorneys and club-women, Oaklanders living in apartment houses lately formed an organization to combat the extortionate rent profiteering.

Rents haven't dropped—yet. Legal action is planned by the tenants' union.

As a concession, certain leading

owners of apartment houses have announced the installation of "Baby Row."

"Baby Row" is a segregated district, a special floor or wing, in which persons "unfortunate" enough to own babies will be permitted to live—for a consideration.

"Baby Row" is modeled on the plan of the famous "Sleepy Sixteenth" in a New York apartment house, where night-workers lived, and where nobody was allowed to stir or speak before 11 a. m.

Instead of the "Sleepy Sixteenth," it will be the "Noisy Ninth," the "Squalling Sixth," or the "Echoing Eighth."

So the tenants are partly mollified. But they still plan to go after profiteering.

AT DARTMOUTH COLLEGE

HANOVER, N. H., Oct. 20.—Students and alumni at Dartmouth college gathered in a large tent on the campus today to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the college heard Justice Wendell P. Stafford of the supreme court of the District of Columbia define the college spirit as "a bold and hard determination to cultivate and discipline our powers with the aid of all that men have learned before us, and then to pour the whole stream of our power into the noble tasks of our own time."

Justice Stafford spoke on "the college, a training school for public service." After eulogizing Daniel Webster and other great sons of Dartmouth, he continued:

"We now stand face to face with a new riddle of the sphinx. The question it propounds is one that we must answer if free government is to survive. That question is how are the masses of men and women who labor with their hands to be secured out of the products of their toil what they will feel to be, and will be in fact, a fair return? Until we can answer that question, we shall have no peace, and if we fail to answer it, we shall have revolution."

"The question is not one that faces America alone, it faces Britain, it faces Italy; it has torn Russia into pieces. Let us hope that our own country may be the one to find the true solution of the riddle, and thereby bring safety and freedom to the people of all lands."

"Our safety can only be found in a policy that treats all men as brothers, all equally entitled to the fruits of

"The terror of the punishment was not in the severity of the blows but in its long continuation."

You, too, receive blows that exhaust you—every day of your life

EVERY day that you pound nail-studded leather heels on hard, unyielding pavements, you are inflicting upon yourself punishment like that of the Bastinado.

The average man takes 8,000 steps a day. If you wear old-fashioned leather heels, studded with nails, you give your nervous system 8,000 jolts and jars. The constant repetition of these shocks exhausts your energy just as the Bastinado sapped the strength of its victims. Chronic over-fatigue, with its ever-present threat of serious illness, often results.

You can protect yourself from the dangers of over-fatigue. You can remove one of the commonest causes of fatigue. Replace your hard, unyielding heels with O'Sullivan's Heels of live, resilient rubber. O'Sullivan's Heels absorb the shocks that tire you out. They relieve the jolts and jars that make a burden of walking.

What gives a rubber heel "life"?

It is not just the rubber that gives O'Sullivan's Heels their springiness and wearing qualities.

Rubber, as you know, can be made

hard and brittle as in fountain pens, or soft and crumbly as in pencil erasers. To secure the resiliency and durability of O'Sullivan's Heels, the highest grades of rubber are "compounded" with the best toughening agents known.

The "compound" is then "cured" or baked under high pressure.

By this special process the greatest resiliency is combined with the utmost durability.

It is this special process that has, since the making of the first rubber heel, established O'Sullivan's Heels as the standard of rubber heel quality.

Guaranteed to outlast any other heels

O'Sullivan's Heels are guaranteed to wear twice as long as ordinary rubber heels; and will outlast three pairs of leather heels.

Go to your shoe repairer today and have O'Sullivan's Heels put on your shoes.

O'Sullivan's Heels are furnished in black, white or tan; for men, women and children. Specify O'Sullivan's Heels, and be sure that you get O'Sullivan's—avoid the disappointment of substitutes.

When you try your first O'Sullivan's Heels note their great resiliency. It is this resiliency that prevents you from pounding away your energy their labor, all equally entitled to raise themselves as high as possible, each in his own place, without doing wrong to any of the rest. It is the spirit of justice and fraternity that must be our guide. And where are we to look for leadership if not in institutions such as this?"

"It sometimes seems to me," he said, "that the ways in which things shall be done loom so important in the minds of all of us that there can be only with the greatest difficulty, any commensurate interest in what the achievement shall be. I am quite clear in my conviction that the first obligation of the college is as markedly as possible to level up the mass of the selected group which it accepts, by which a small medium of ultra-excellence shall be produced at the cost of

"The function of the college is not primarily to develop intellectualism but intelligent men and this purpose is not observed if only consideration is given to the mind and the soul and the body are left to the whims of chance. While accepting the magnitude of its obligation to develop mentality of strength and accuracy, the college must, as essential corollaries of this, safeguard the physical and moral standards of collective living and offer individual inspiration for the development of spiritual excellence."

President Hopkins alluded to "the great delusion which has pervaded the college world, to its loss, that a record of research of sufficient profundity more than compensated either for incomplete manhood or for incapacity or indisposition to recognize the real purpose of the American college" and he added:

"I believe that the time has come when we should free ourselves from the cant and sophistry that still pervade college circles at such points as these. We should at least be as watchfully solicitous to avoid the evils of professionalization in our college athletics as we are in our college athletics."

UNCLE SAM'S BARGAINS IN HOMES

The government built 6000 houses like these for war workers and is selling them out. Houses at Rock Island, Ill., are being disposed of at the rate of 50 a day. When the sales were started all the houses were rented, except at Erie, Pa., and Bridgeport, Conn., where only 50 per cent. were occupied.

Tenants are given the first option to buy. The houses are located at Aberdeen, Md., Alliance, O., Bath, Me., Birmingham, Wash., Bridgeport, Conn., Charleston, W. Va., Graddock, Va., Davenport, Ia., Erie, Pa., Hammond, Ind., Indian Head, Md., New Brunswick, N. J., Niagara Falls, N. Y., Niles, O., Philadelphia, Pa., Quincy, Mass., Reekland, Ill., Truxton, Va., Vallejo, Cal., Watertown, N. Y., and Washington, D. C. The houses are being sold for $3500 to $4000 each, and are being sold on the installment plan, 10 per cent. down and 1 per cent. a month. On this basis it is estimated about 375,000,000 of the $100,000,000 expended by the United States housing corporation during the war will be put back in the treasury.

by GEORGE B. WATERS
N. E. A. Washington Bureau, 1128-1134
Munsey Bldg.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—There are five million more families in the United States than there is living room for, according to figures.

As a matter of fact, the five million families are jammed in with the rest of the hundred million or more and many, many millions are at the mercy of landlords.

And landlords are living up to their ancient reputation in the majority of cases. They hardly can be called merciful.

The natural cause of the shortage of homes is the growth in population, and the increase in the number of families, without a corresponding increase in the number of houses.

In 1910 there were 20,255,555 homes in the United States and in round numbers about 24,400,000 families occupying them.

The 10 years previous to 1910 the number of homes had to increase 25 per cent. to keep up with the increase in the number of families. This would mean that the increase since 1910 would have to be in round numbers 5,000,000 more homes.

But the war stopped building for two years of the decade, thus preventing construction of 1,000,000 of the homes. In round numbers, the 5,000,000 families who have occupied these houses are crowded into the homes of others.

Sam Rogers, director of census, says the house shortage is also augmented by the fact that many people moved from the rural district to cities to engage in industry.

"In 1913 America was spending $350,000,000 annually for housing," said R. A. Cullock, custodian of the salvage property of the United States Housing Corporation. "The shortage dates from that year. The nation should be spending $500,000,000 a year now for houses to keep pace with the needs, and to make up for the shortage it would cost a billion a year."

"But our records show that in 1918 only $25,000,000 worth of houses were built. That was when builders had to get a permit from us to build and obtain sanction from the war industries board for material. This choked building down to nothing during a year in which a half billion should have been spent to give the people places to live."

Problem the Same In Other Countries

Architects from Canada and England say similar conditions exist in their countries.

"The house shortage is getting worse instead of better," declared E. C. Kemper, executive secretary of the American Institute of Architects here. "We are not keeping up with the normal demand, to say nothing of making up for lost time. Many architects have received stop orders from the builders on account of the uncertain condition of material and labor."

Cullock said the average increase in the cost of material throughout the country is from 70 to 75 per cent. since 1913. In his opinion owners who charge 100 per cent. more rent than in 1913 are not profiteering, but those who charge more are.

"I know a case in Washington in which an apartment was leased for $35 a month and sub-let for $400," he said.

Government Offers Nothing to Help

No department here is giving the general housing situation any attention. All any Washington official knows is that houses are scarce and rents high. Congress has attempted to legislate rents down in the District of Columbia and the landlords have been branded as profiteers.

The only way to solve the housing problem is to build more houses.

Two cities in the United States have more houses than they can use, Erie, Pa., and Bridgeport, Conn. All the other cities are suffering from a shortage of dwellings and apartments and rents are high.

The United States Housing corporation has quit providing homes and is selling off the 6000 houses it built during the war. Congress has two bills, one to make the bureau a permanent branch of the labor department and the other to abolish it. The latter probably will pass.

the precise appearance and dotting parent, but he has also the added qualification of a healthy punch packed away in his right fist.

"The ability to punch proves very handy to Reginald when his mother intrudes him a constant nuisance. The age who has been imported to teach Reggy the first principles of companionship, Tommy Tucker is the important name and he prides himself on being a regular feller. One look at Reginald fills him with glee as he thinks of the wallowing that he will give the mother of the house. Here's a different story unfolded when the drooping Reginald gets on the floor and lets swing a lightning punch that lands thump on the floor. A good playlet, well acted and possessing plenty of action is this affair of 'Cressy'."

James Mullin and Anna Francis in "I Got What's Left," present a rapid-fire repartee attraction. Mullin is the big stout fellow who insists on adopting kishish mannerisms. He sings, talks and dances unceasingly. Anna Francis is brand new. Miss Francis is a capable foil.

Clifton and Julia Rooney, the latter sister of the famous Pat Rooney, present "After Dark," a novel and fast moving singing and talking affair. Miss Rooney is as lively as her brother and gives an excellent imitation of one of his grotesque dances. Clifton is on his toes every minute and the two unwind a lot of laugh producers.

Martin and Fabbrini in "A Light of Fancy" have an unusually novel dancing act. When the curtain goes up a dimly lighted scene shows what appears to be marble statues in the background. Suddenly two of them come to life, don modern dancing garments and whirl off into the mazes of a 1919 number. Their finale programmed a "fox trot fantasy," is indeed fantastic. Both the young woman and young man are attired in the furs of a fox and skip about the stage with amazing speed.

Dave Kindler, the whistling virtuoso, has a very poor singing voice, but he more than makes up for deficiencies in this respect by whistling. Soft or loud, a piercing shrill or the daintiest trill, his whistling runs the gamut of all tones. He was well received last evening.

Eskimo and Seals, a unique novelty, open the bill with an excellent animal act. The Bruce Scenic Picture has to do with the adventures of a pair of heroes in the Arctic. The film is filled with its usual crisp comments on present day affairs.

The Kinogram News Weekly has several interesting news scenes, notably the sham battle between the American Legion in Boston a week ago. Seats for the remaining performance.

WOMAN SICK TWO YEARS
TELLS HOW SHE GOT WELL

Miss G. I. Baird, of 30 Glenville ave., Allston, Mass., writes: "I have been sick almost two years, had four doctors growing thin every day, went from 135 to 111. I was so discouraged I didn't know what to do. One night, again and saw your True's Elixir. I bought a bottle and saw your True's Elixir. I was surprised at the result, stomach cleared, some a finger long, so much alive, that looked as though it was just the skin of worms. The day before I took Dr. True's Elixir I thought I should go to bed with the crawling in my stomach, feel like a new person, all my friends have believed anyone could feel so much better in such a short time. I can't give your medicine praise enough."

Signs of worms: Offensive breath, swollen upper lip, sour stomach, drenched stomach, occasional gripings and pains about the navel, pale face of leaden tint, eyes heavy and dull, twitching eyelids, itching of the neck, ringing of the ears, short, dry cough, grinding of the teeth, red points on the tongue, starting during sleep, slow fever. Dr. True's Elixir, The Family Laxative and Worm Expeller, is sold by ALL DEALERS.—Adv.

Beauty Answers By MADAME MAREE

MINNIE—The great secret of making hair grow is in the development of the vigor of hair roots. More stimulation of the scalp is not enough. It is the lack of realization of this fact which is the cause of so much hair loss. In the treatment of the hair, the hair roots may be developed to a very remarkable degree by using the proper methods. As a hair developer nothing can equal the use of beta quinol. This can be secured at any drug store for 50 cents. It is a pure, white, odorless and mixed with a half pint of bay rum and a half pint of water the developer is ready to use. It is not oily, and when used liberally gives all the results which anyone could wish. By developing the roots, the growth is forced, it becomes thick, vigorous and silky, bald spots fill out, and instead of thinning, such a condition of hair is readily on coming we have strong hair, held firmly in the scalp, thus putting an end to hair falling.

MRS. A. T. F.—The skin can be brought back to its original plumpness and vigor by the following formula. An astonishing result is the quick disappearance of wrinkles, freckles and blemishes. It is simple and can be prepared in a few moments by adding to half a pint of water one tablespoonful of glycerine and two ounces of epsom, obtained from your druggist for 50 cents. This takes years from your appearance, and is always pure and palatable. If you will apply it liberally, every day.

MAY B. T.—As to head-wash, I advise against using soap of the many shampoos sold, because of the alkali they contain. This dries up hair recreations. Get eggol at the drug store and dissolve a teaspoonful of eggol in a cup of water. You can get enough eggol for 25 cents for a dozen or more head-washes. It is magic in cleansing hair and scalp, and adds wonderfully in making hair grow.—Adv.

THE OWL THEATRE

"The Auction of Souls," so-called, a picture film shown at the Owl theatre, depicts Turkish cruelties as practiced in Armenia with horrifying realism. Some will object that human beings could be so heartlessly brutal, but from what we have heard of the Turkish persecution of Christians, there is no reason to doubt that the picture story of Turkish atrocities in Armenia here presented is overdrawn. Nevertheless, there are many who will feel overcome by horror at seeing the agonies of the dying, the shooting of women and children, the wholesale shooting and murder of men, the dreadful scenes in which parents and children are torn apart, women and children herded by thousands together and the men in separate body, all to be deported.

Yemen girls are torn from the others for the harem of the sultan, carried off by drunken soldiers, while at certain points they have the choice of accepting Mahomet instead of Christ or being crucified. A long line of crosses was shown, each bearing a crucified girl. Then the auction of young girls is shown. The girls half naked are put upon a stand and sold to the highest bidder. Some features of the presentation are so shocking that people who are nervous and sensitive will be shocked by witnessing the realism of the pictures showing the more agonizing scenes of Turkish brutality.

The question is asked can all this be true? Yes, it would be better to imagine anything worse than the Turks have been guilty of in Armenia.

Little Aurora Mardiganian, an Armenian girl who is a central figure in the various scenes asserts that the picture story is true. She comes out before the audience and in an address in rather broken English tells the story of suffering Armenia and appeals to American sympathy for Armenia. We do not suppose that Armenia gets any share of the proceeds from this performance, but the show is certainly calculated to win deep sympathy for Miss Mardiganian and her unhappy country. She proclaims her devotion to Christianity which teaches forgiveness, but she insists that even divine justice would demand that the guilty Turks be killed and she says that Armenia has an army which will do the fighting and kill the Turks if backed by this great country, the United States.

The young girl's appeal went straight to the hearts of the audience and intensified their sympathy for Armenia and their hatred of the Turks. But after seeing this show one comes away with the feeling that it is altogether too gruesome, too horrifying, too shocking. That certain things have actually happened does not always justify their portrayal on the screen in the movies.

This is the mistake that some picture producers make. They seem to think that because a foul crime has been committed it is justified in portraying its details in pictures. What Brat" at the Strand theatre to realize that this picture of Nazimova's stage play is the greatest success yet attained by this splendid Russian artist. Capacity houses greeted it yesterday and will continue to do so as long as it remains in the city.

To those not familiar with the story as told by the play and faithfully chronicled by the picture, it may be said that it traces the life of a nameless child of charity, who, in the form of the chorus of a musical show, is insulted and "framed" and finally lands in a metropolitan night court. It is there, however, that the subplot commences turning in another direction, and her sterling qualities of character are spun out as she enters the home of MacMillan, the actress, who sees in her bedraggled appearance the ideal "type" of a heroine he has sought for a new novel.

As the story runs, the author's brother is the man who insulted "the brat" and caused her arrest and later confronts her in his home. His weak character leads him to attempt suicide, but the girl intervenes and the narrative ends most happily and quite unexpectedly.

Throughout the picture Nazimova's acting portrays the true artist, and she easily adapts herself to all conditions of society. Humor is not forgotten, and she adroitly brings it to the surface through quiet snarls and bits of immature philosophy.

"The Gray Tower Mystery" with Gladys Leslie in the leading role, shows the successful fight of an innocent girl to free herself from the meshes of circumstantial evidence after being arrested and accused of murder. It is a picture of deep plot and startling disclosures and has an element of suspense which sustains interest to the very end.

The picture shows the fascinating Miss Leslie to appear in a somewhat different character part than is her wont, but she adequately controls the production and gives a fine proof of her versatility and ability to faithfully portray without the spoken word. RED CROSS WAR WORK

by American Branch for Relief Work During War

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Cash aggregating about $170,000,000 was contributed by the American Red Cross for relief work in France alone and about $75,000,000 was contributed for similar work in 20 other countries during the war period of 20 months ending last February 28, according to a report of the war activities of the organization made public today.

In France the Red Cross furnished supplies to 3,780 French hospitals, cared for millions of refugees, aided with money and supplies French soldiers' families, cared for destitute children and launched a campaign against tuberculosis and other epidemics. Practically similar service was rendered in the other countries.

COMMITTEES CONSIDER NEEDS OF ALLIES

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 21.—American sub-committees of the international trade conference continued today hearings on the industrial and financial needs of Great Britain, France, Belgium and Italy. These informal discussions which are being held for the purpose of obtaining a true statement of the economic conditions of foreign countries and what may be expected of American business men to help them return to a normal basis, will continue until the public sessions begin on Wednesday night.

The question of permanent organization is the most important item on today's program. Both American and Belgian missions have prepared plans for a permanent international organization of business men with fixed headquarters and methods for a constant interchange of business ideas. The other foreign missions also have had committees studying the question.

France's textile and financial needs were explained to American committees considering those subjects at the informal conferences today. Great Britain's delegates discussed metals and shipping with American business men interested in those subjects, while Italian delegates presented data on metals, foods, chemicals and reconstruction supplies. Belgium's delegates met American committees on coal and shipping.

At the conclusion of the conference, foreign delegations will visit many industrial centers by special train. They will spend Nov. 19 and 20 in Boston.

FORMER PREMIER OF JAPAN IS DEAD

TOKIO, Monday, Oct. 20.—(By the Associated Press).—Field Marshal Count Seki Terauchi, former premier of Japan, died today.

Count Terauchi was prime minister of Japan from October, 1916 to September, 1919, when the cabinet which he headed resigned. The foreign policy of the ministry had been under attack for some time and in the summer of 1919 the rice riots brought to the front the charge that the government was responsible in the measure that it had failed to have suitable economic legislation enacted. The Terauchi cabinet was succeeded by the present ministry with Takashi Hara as premier.

CARD. MERCIER GREETED AT CHICAGO TODAY

CHICAGO, Oct. 21.—The strains of "La Brabançonne," his national anthem, greeted Cardinal Mercier, Belgian prelate, upon his arrival here today for a two days' visit. Girls dressed in Belgian costume scattered flowers before his automobile as he drove through the crowded streets to the residence of Archbishop George Mundelein. An escort of marines wounded in France formed a guard of honor.

After a solemn pontifical high mass this morning, Cardinal Mercier's program for the day included a visit to Loyola university to receive the degree of doctor of laws. The University of Chicago will confer upon him the same degree tomorrow.

DATE FOR DEPOSITING RATIFICATIONS

PARIS, Oct. 21 (Havas).—The supreme council of the peace conference has decided to entrust to the military authorities of the allied powers the duty of fixing a date for depositing ratifications of the treaty of peace with Germany, which date will mark the coming into force of the convention, according to the Echo de Paris.

SUGAR COMING 20,000,000 Pounds on Way to Boston

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Twenty million pounds of raw sugar is on the way from Cuba to Boston and the first ship to put in an appearance should be the Lake Pachuca, which left Manzanillo a week ago today and is now due. The Lake Duane sailed from Santiago Oct. 11, having called at Newport News to replenish bunkers, while the Fordham, from Jucaro, should arrive Saturday.

These vessels are loaded to capacity and the consignments are for the two local refineries. During the past month receipts of raw sugar were about double those for the corresponding period a year ago.

ALL OVER AND STRIKERS ARE GLAD OF IT
NEW YORK—The longshoremen happily returned to work. A mighty cheer went up from this group when decision was made to end the strike. They were no happier than the thousands of shipping men affected. The longshoremen strike tied up tightly all shipping. It will take weeks to do away with the congestion caused by the several days' lay-off of the dock men.

ENTERTAINMENT AT COLONIAL THEATRE

The senior members of the Children of Mary sodality of St. Michael's church presented an unusually graphic and interesting picture of Roman days and the suffering of martyrdom of the Christians of that period last evening in the Colonial theatre when they staged "Patricia, a Christian Martyr," before a large and appreciative audience of friends and relatives. The play was also given yesterday afternoon for the children of the parish and will be presented again this evening.

Patricia is a Christian maiden who has been imported as a companion to the daughter of the emperor at an imperial country villa. Flavia, a slave girl and hater of the Christians, is also employed by the emperor and when the latter's daughter is poisoned Flavia turns the blame on Patricia. The denouement of the piece, its wealth of scenery and pretty slave girls with their gorgeous costumes and excellent dancing numbers and the familiarity of the players with their respective parts combined to make the presentation most enjoyable. Miss Margaret Mahoney as Patricia, Miss Mary Casey as Flavia, Miss Ruth Whelton as the empress and Miss Carrie McSorley as the daughter were exceptionally good. The cast was as follows:

Augusta, Empress of Rome, Ruth Whelton
Patricia, Christian Maiden of Nobility, Margaret Mahoney
Flavia, a Greek Slave Girl, Mary Casey
Mollita, a dancing girl, Edwin Hall
Myra, her sister, Alice Baxter Octavia, emperor's daughter, Carrie McSorley
Cecilia Metella, Roman maiden, Evelyn Hyde Marguerite, Roman maiden, Margaret Johnson
Cornelia, Augusta's wife, Irene Burns
Zenobia, prison keeper's wife, Irene Burns
Ladies in attendance to the empress, angels, slaves and dancing girls.

The accompanist for the play was William Paul McCarthy who has recently returned from extensive service with the A.E.F. His playing came in for a large share of praise in the success of the affair.

ROYAL PARTY AT ST. LOUIS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 21.—Having passed through the great Kansas wheat belt whose golden harvest helped sustain his country during the war, Albert, king of the Belgians, with Queen Elizabeth and Crown Prince Leopold, today stopped at St. Louis for a tour of this middle west city's business district and industrial plants. The king's interest in America's resources and vast distances was unabated as his train rolled eastward over the wheat covered prairies.

SUPERIOR COURT; CIVIL SESSION

The superior court jury sitting on the case of Daniel P. Fahy of Nashua against the Boston & Maine railroad, an action of tort through which the plaintiff seeks to recover $10,000 for alleged injuries received at Storey's railroad crossing in Pepperell, July 4, 1915, was taken on a view to the scene of the accident this forenoon. The court re-convened at 2 o'clock today and the case was resumed.

1000 Chinese Driven Out of Mexico Appeal to American Government

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Approximately 1000 Chinese driven out of Mexico into Guatemala are awaiting the result of an appeal made by the Chinese government to the United States to assist them in returning to their homes in China. The Chinese legation here has explained their predicament to the state department which is considering the suggestion that a government vessel be used to transport them.

Expulsion of the Chinese from Mexico was a result of the campaign being made in that country against the immigration of Asiatic labor. They were driven across the Guatemalan frontier by native laborers.

CHURCHGOERS MAY GET 5 CENT FARE

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Special five-cent tickets for the use of Sunday worshippers who patronize the Boston Elevated railway lines in going to church may be issued as a result of a movement for a reduced fare, launched by Greater Boston ministers, who claim that their congregations have suffered a heavy loss in numbers because of the 10-cent fare scale.

Following a meeting of the clergyman yesterday, the Rev. Dr. Isaac Ward, pastor of the First Presbyterian church and head of the Presbyterian committee which inaugurated the plan for a lower fare, announced that a general ministers' committee would confer with the Elevated management Friday, Oct. 21, at 2.20 p. m.

LOWELL HIGH PLAY AT OPERA HOUSE

The high school has secured the Lowell Opera House for the date of Jan. 19, 1920, for the presentation of the annual play by the students. Matinee and evening performances will be given, the vehicle this year being "The Girl and the Pennant." Miss Joyce has not completed her cast as yet, but has been happily surprised in finding much more talent available than she believed possible at the beginning of the term. She now faces the problem of having an over-abundance of material to consider and proper selection for the many roles.

UNIVERSALIST CHURCH

BALTIMORE, Oct. 21.—The question of uniting with the Unitarian and Congregational denominations, was one of the subjects up for consideration at the biennial session of the general convention of the Universalist church which opened here today. The Unitarians at their convention here last week invited the Universalists and Congregationalists to appoint commissions to confer with a like commission of Unitarians upon some plan of union or federation.

REDS CONTINUE TO FALL BACK

Gen. Yudenitch's Forces Capture Pulkova and Ligova—Other Gains

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Forces of the Russian soviet government are being slowly driven back to their last defenses in front of Petrograd. General Yudenitch has captured Pulkova, about seven miles south of the city and Ligova, less than eight miles to the southwest, according to unofficial reports.

Bolshevik troops are apparently formed along the Petrograd-Luga-Pskov railroad, where they are stubbornly contesting each attempt of the Yudenitch forces to drive eastward. The anti-Bolshevik reached a point near Luga last week, but since that time there has been no indication that the railroad has been crossed at any point south of Gatchina, which is admitted to be in the hands of the Yudenitch army.

Soviet forces seem still to be holding the coastal region west of Petrograd, Helsingfors despatches telling of a duel between an anti-Bolshevik fleet and the fort at Krasnaya Gorka. A great fire, accompanied by an explosion was observed after the battle, but it is said it may have been at Granenbaum, a village about 12 miles east of Krasnaya Gorka.

Kiev, which was occupied by Bolshevik troops last week has been attacked by Gen. Denikine's Cossacks, who have forced the reds out of most of the city. Fighting was still going on there last Friday.

Nearer the city of Gen. Denikine's line, the soviet armies have essayed a counter offensive, launching an attack at Kronu, 17 miles southwest of Orel. This attack was completely defeated, according to an official report.

Southeast of Orel, the Bolsheviks have suffered a disastrous defeat, an official report says. This battle took place west of the Khoper river, the most important tributary of the Don. It is said that volunteer troops of the Denikine army are following up their advantage in this region.

Kolchak troops on the Siberian front are said to have met with a reverse, losing quite heavily in fighting near Kurgan. This report, if confirmed, would seem to throw some doubt on recent reports that the Bolsheviks are rapidly retreating on the eastern front. As late as Oct. 9, Kurgan was in the hands of the Bolsheviks.

Explosions in Petrograd

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 21.—Tremendous explosions were being heard from Petrograd by the attacking army Sunday night, according to a special telegram to the Berlingske Tidende from Reval.

Red Flag Visible

LONDON, Oct. 21.—The fortress of Kronstadt was still in the hands of the Bolsheviks on Sunday, according to a despatch to the Daily Mail from Terijoki, Finland, from which place the red flag was then visible at the masthead of the battleship Petropavlovsk, which is reported to have been raised since she was torpedoed by the British in August, and is now lying in the Kronstadt harbor. The reported raising of the white flag at Kronstadt on Friday is as yet unexplained.

It is generally assumed here that Petrograd is isolated and its fall is a matter of a short time, but the position is obscure with the exception of official statements that the railroad to Moscow has been cut and that besiegers are within a few miles of the city.

There are no details of actual operations, nor any reliable news as to what force the Reds are able to put in the field to oppose the army commanded by General Yudenitch. A Helsingfors despatch received yesterday says General Yudenitch and staff are at Gatchina, which apparently confirms the British war office assumption that that place is firmly in the hands of the anti-Bolsheviks.

Reds Are Dispersed

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 21.—The Bolshevik forces concentrated at Gdof, on Lake Peipus, which constituted a most serious threat to the rear of General Yudenitch, have been dispersed. This removes the menace of an advance against the communications of the anti-Bolshevik forces now before Petrograd, which War Minister Trotsky was reported to have declared recently would decide the fate of the city rather than the defense of the old capital itself.

Flee From Petrograd

AMSTERDAM, Oct. 21.—Commissary Zinovief, the chief Bolshevik government representative in Petrograd, has withdrawn from that city, taking with him all men able to bear arms, according to reports to the German press. The official documents and cash, it is declared, have been taken to Moscow.

Orel Retaken by Reds

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Orel has been retaken by the Bolsheviks, who also have defeated 19 regiments of General Mamontoff's army outside of Voronezh, according to a wireless despatch sent out by the soviet government in Moscow.

Strong Red Resistance

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Oct. 21.—General Yudenitch has encountered strong Bolshevik resistance beyond Oskovo, about seven miles south of Petrograd. He has therefore halted his advance to concentrate his forces while awaiting reinforcements and heavy artillery. One hundred guns reached his army today.

MATRIMONIAL

Mr. Harold W. Lake and Miss Mary Pipes, both of this city, were married last evening at the residence of Rev. A. G. Warner, assistant pastor of the First Baptist church, at 142 Shaw street. The attendants were Mr. Frank Chapman of Amherst, N. S., and Miss Bernice Mercer of Lowell.

The bride was attired in a gown of white georgette crepe and carried a bouquet of white bridal roses. The bridesmaid wore pink georgette and carried a bouquet of pink. After a brief reception the couple left Lowell on a wedding trip. They will make their home in this city.

McKone-Sorenson

Mr. James McKone of Lowell and Miss Mary J. Sorenson of Dracut were married yesterday afternoon at the rectory of St. Michael's church, by the pastor, Rev. John J. Shaw. The bride was becomingly gowned in brown panne velvet with picture hat to match and carried white bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Mary Sullivan, who wore brown tulle velvet with picture hat to match and carried pink roses. The best man was Mr. Peter McKone, a brother of the bridegroom. The bride's gift to her bridesmaid was a pink sapphire ring and the best man received from the bridegroom a gold cameo stick pin.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride in Riverside street and a wedding dinner was served by Caterer Lydon at which were present only the immediate families and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. McKone, who received many useful and costly gifts, left early in the evening on a wedding trip which will include visits to New York, Philadelphia and Washington, D. C. Upon their return they will reside in Lowell and will be at home to their friends after December 1.

Fascione of 15 Oak street, Lawrence, were accepted at the local army recruiting station this morning for the motor transport corps for one year's service. Both are previous service men, Flynn having served in the 14th Engineers and Fascione in the 29th Coast Artillery Corps.

District Deputy John P. Farley of the Massachusetts Northeast council of Elks will preside at the installation of officers off their Everett lodge in the latter city this evening. This will be Mr. Farley's first official function in his new capacity and it is expected that a large number of members of the local lodge will accompany him.

PRaises CONDUCT OF TROOPS AT GARY, IND.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—Leaders in the steel strike are so "well pleased with the conduct" of federal troops at Gary, Ind., that the government has been asked to send soldiers into the Pittsburgh strike district, John Fitzpatrick, chairman of the strikers' committee said today. Mr. Fitzpatrick came here to discuss the strike with Samuel Gompers, and other members of the labor group in the national industrial conference.

Mr. Fitzpatrick said the troops at Gary had guaranteed the constitutional rights of free speech and assembly and thus had relieved the "tension" there. In this connection, he denounced the "brutality" of the Pennsylvania state constabulary.

Mr. Fitzpatrick charged that publicly agents of the steel corporation had "manufactured" the "red" propaganda found in Gary for the purpose of bringing suspicion upon the strikers.

SPARKS' FRIENDS HOLD MEETING

A most enthusiastic meeting in the interest of the candidacy of Hon. John Sparks for senator in the eighth district was held last evening in Elks' hall. Both democrats and republicans were present, embracing men from all walks of life, and the affair crystallized into a forceful endorsement of the Dracut man.

Former Representative John W. Brennan, town clerk of Dracut, presided and in opening the meeting said that the time for action was rapidly approaching. He pleaded for the largest possible representation of voters at the polls.

Daniel Gray, secretary of the Sparks campaign committee, read the records of the last meeting and several sub-committees were also heard from.

Former Alderman James J. Gallagher made a telling plea in behalf of Mr. Sparks and said that three years ago he was defeated by only 631 votes throughout the district. He believed that this figure could be erased this year if the proper effort were made.

Charles Flannery, one of the younger hustlers of the committee, gave some sound advice about getting out the vote and asked that systematic efforts be made to get every man to the polls. On the suggestion of Chas. A. Burns rallying committees were appointed for each precinct and a systematic plan of campaign will be mapped out.

When Mr. Sparks was called upon he was given an ovation and responded by delivering an able address. He told of his previous experience in the legislature and said that his record was open for inspection. He thanked his listeners for their manifestation of interest in his candidacy and expressed confidence in his success.

Other speakers included Representative Thomas J. Corbett, former Alderman Joseph Jodoin, Marcel Chevert, C. A. Desrosiers, Charles Cordeau, John A. Cotter, John H. Douglass, Charles H. Burns and Walter E. Guyette.

Looked as White As a Sheet Until She Found Remedy

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Brought Back Color to Cheeks and Lips Says Massachusetts Woman

"I was so pale that I was as white as a sheet," says Mrs. Belva L. Holland, of No. 21 Holmes avenue, Worcester, Mass. "I had become all run down, was subject to headaches and was irritable and nervous. I could not get a good night's sleep, was tired all the time and had but little ambition. Through the recommendation of my aunt who had used them with benefit, I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills after other treatments had failed.

"While I was taking the second box I noticed a decided improvement. The headaches stopped and I slept better. Then the color came back to my cheeks and lips. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a fine tonic and I have no hesitation in recommending them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., at 50 cents per box, six boxes for $2.50, postpaid, on receipt of price. Write for the free booklet, "Building Up the Blood."—Adv.

MISS COSGROVE HONORED

Miss Rose Cosgrove, who is soon to become the bride of John Reardon, was honored by a number of young women of the balling and warp room of the Massachusetts mills last Friday evening, when she was given a shower at the home of Mrs. Mary Bowen, 93 Bartlett street. The bride-to-be was given a beautiful dinner set, pieces of cut glass, silver and linen. Following an enjoyable musical entertainment, a buffet-luncheon was served by Mrs. Bowen, assisted by Miss Mary Bowen, Miss Connell and Miss Reardon.

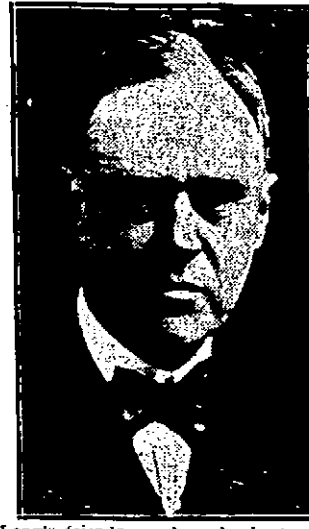

SEPARATE MAINTENANCE

A petition for separate maintenance was brought in the probate court for contested cases this morning at the court house by Mrs. Thomas H. Carpenter against her husband, both of this city. The plaintiff was represented by Daniel J. Donahue, while Henry V. Charbonneau appeared for defendant. The plaintiff alleges cruelty and desertion as the causes for the petition. A half-dozen witnesses were examined by the opposing lawyers.

Massachusetts needs at this time a Governor who has the confidence of the workingman, and also the business experience to meet the unusual conditions that follow the end of a great war.

RICHARD H. LONG
Meets These Requirements
Take off the party label and nearly every voter would choose Long before Coolidge.

Long's friends wonder why he leaves his business interests for public life. He replies that the opportunities for public work are better worth while than private gain. Because of his early employment as a shoemaker, and his knowledge of human nature, he has had cordial relations with his employees, and places the rights of the man before the rights of property. He was the first shoe manufacturer to establish an eight-hour work day. He is a successful business man and keen student of public affairs. His victory over monopoly in shoe machinery, in 1906 and 1907, showed his ability to fight and win against great odds. His campaign last year, both at the Primary and Election, surprised his friends and opponents. His primary victory this year was even more successful. He has waged a most aggressive campaign and driven his opponents to confusion and distress, and his election is assured. The same enterprise and business-like management of the state will bring harmony and contentment to our citizens, and prosperity to our Commonwealth. Voters should forget the party label and unite for the man Massachusetts needs.

and maintain poles in Cambridge street. The two commissioners reported unfavorably on the petition of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Co. for permission to locate a pole at 155-167 Pleasant street and leave to withdraw was given. An order introduced by Commissioner Murphy granting Harry E. Mousette permission to erect a revolving barber pole in front of the premises at 102 Middlesex street, was adopted.

Commissioner Murphy reported favorably on the petitions of A. Estelle Rundlett, that Bennett street be laid out and accepted and P. H. Parker that sidewalks be laid on both sides of that street, but the report was ordered to remain in the city clerk's office seven days.

Commissioners Murphy and Marchand reported favorably on the petition of New England Telephone and Telegraph Co., for permission to erect two poles in Cross street and the order was adopted.

A vote was passed authorizing Mayor Thompson to adjust with several insurance companies the damage caused by recent fires at the Chelmsford Street hospital and the Bartlett school.

Commissioner Murphy's favorable report on the petition of Charles P.

Witham that Fairgrove avenue be laid out and accepted and sidewalks laid, was ordered to remain in the city clerk's office seven days.

A petition signed by Margaret H. Holt and James H. O'Neil and 12 other residents of Wilder street or that neighborhood asked that a hearing be given them relative to the closing of Wilder street last August without their knowledge or consent. One of the petitioners was present and Commissioner Murphy suggested that the matter be taken up by the street department office, rather than by the entire council. This was agreeable and Commissioner Donnelly moved that the petition be referred to Commissioner Murphy with the understanding that he shall later report to the council.

A $10,000 bond executed in behalf of Charles C. Wilson by the Massachusetts Bonding & Insurance Co. and approved by the city solicitor was accepted by the council.
